The Hatchet May Be Buried

In DC-Brisbane Feud

By RON BATES

Daly City's council Monday night decided to bury the hatchet with the city of Brisbane—not in it.

The county's two northernmost cities, which have been battling with each other over Bayshore city for almost a year, may get together over dinner in the near future to hash out mutual problems.

The suggestion for a truce came from Councilman Francis Pacelli, who is also chairman of the board of directors of the North San Mateo county Sanitation district.

Pacelli said the district already had made overtures to Brisbane suggesting cooperation on various matters concerning sanitation.

Mayor Joseph Verducci agreed. "Much of our problem with Brisbane is due to a lack of communication," he said. "A feeling of suspicion and distrust exists."

The council authorized City Manager Edward Frank to draft a letter to the Brisbane council, extending an olive branch hand and suggesting a dinner meeting.

Also to be invited are the elected officials of the Bayshore Sanitation district.

The two councils have been at odds since Brisbane moved late last year to annex the Southern Pacific properties between Old Bayshore road and the new Bayshore Freeway.

The move shattered Daly City's dream of extending its boundaries from the ocean to the bay.

One area in which the two cities have attempted to reach common ground and have yet to do it is dissolution of the Bayshore Fire department.

City Attorney Paul Hupf said Monday he is still meeting with his Brisbane counterpart, Conrad Reisch, and a court case is being carried over until Monday in hopes an out of court settlement can be made.

The residents of Bayshore voted 251 to 12 to dissolve the district August 13 but Brisbane obtained a court injunction at the eleventh hour, halting the dissolution.

Brisbane argued it could not provide fire protection to the portion of land it annexed in the Bayshore Fire district.

"As it stands now," Hupf said, "if the dissolution would take place today, Brisbane would receive $45,000 from the fire district's current budget."

While the dissolution is being held up, the $45,000 is being used for salaries and maintenance, he said.

Hupf said Brisbane would be smarter to take the $45,000 and put it to use in purchasing its own equipment to protect that area.

Daly City's prime concern, he said, is to dissolve the fire district so that the Bayshore Fire department can become a part of the Daly City Fire Department.

Ex-Jockey Winner in Grid Game

A former jockey is this week's winner in the Post-Times Football Contest.

He's Kenneth McAlister of Redwood City, a machinist, and he won first prize of two tickets to the California-Stanford big game by naming 13 of 15 teams correctly and estimating the San Francisco 49'ers would gain 227 yards last weekend.

The 49'ers gained 194 yards.

There were two other entries containing 13 correctly selected games, but McAlister edged out these entries by his estimation of the 49'ers' yardage.

Since there wasn't a cash winner, this week's prize is $100 plus $50 bonus for being a home-delivered subscriber to The Times.

This week's entry blank in The Post-Times is on Page 32. You should fill it out and mail

Terra Nova Spans Open

New bridges connecting Terra Nova boulevard with Rosita road and Linda Mar boulevard are open, according to Charles Trifiletti of the Oddstad builders.

They were washed out last year in severe flooding.

School buses are now using them to carry students to Terra Nova High school and Ortega school.

Traffic had been travelling over steep and winding Alicante drive.

Barry Roth of the Pacifica City Engineer's office said the bridges cannot be considered officially open to the public until the thoroughfare is completely improved and deeded to the city.

At present, much of Terra Nova boulevard is private property. When Oddstad subdivision Linda Mar 31 is completed, the street will be finished.

MURDER-SUICIDE THEORY

DC Pair Found Dead in House

A Daly City couple were found dead in their home Monday night in what investigators said was apparently a case of murder and suicide.

Dead are Esther Charette, 40, and her husband, Robert, 43, of 184 St. Francis boulevard.

They had planned a three-week vacation to Maine and were scheduled to leave by air early Sunday morning. Relatives reported the couple Saturday postponed the trip.

The pair were discovered about 10:30 p.m. by two relatives.

Investigators said the wife was found lying on the kitchen floor with a steak knife beside her.

The husband was discovered on the floor of the garage on the first floor of the two-story home. A hunting knife and a sheet rock knife was beside him.

Deputy County Coroner Robert Jessen said Charette's left wrist had been slashed in two places and that he apparently had bled to death.

He said a preliminary investigation showed that the wife had suffered a stab wound in her left collar bone and two cuts on the back of her head.

He said an autopsy would be performed on both bodies to determine the causes of death.

The Charettes had been married since 1945 and had no children. Both were employed by United Airlines—she as an office worker and he as a mechanic.

Relatives said there had been no sign of marital troubles. Police said no suicide notes had been found.

The bodies were discovered by Raymond Charette of 1919 Bepler street, Daly City, brother of the husband, and Anthony J. Costanzo of San Francisco, brother of the wife.

Charette is a well-known Daly City businessman. He is the owner of the Daly City Blind and Shade company at 40 Hillcrest drive.

According to Daly City Detective Phillip LaBruzzo, here is the sequence of events leading up to the discovery of the bodies:

The Charettes had planned to fly to Maine with his 74-year-old mother, Mrs. Bernadette Charette of Seaside. They were scheduled to leave San Francisco Airport at 12:30 Sunday morning.

Saturday, Charette planned to drive to Seaside and bring his mother back to Daly City.

JESD Casts A Dour Look At SSF Plan

The Jefferson Elementary school board of trustees cast a dour look Monday night at a proposal by the South San Francisco school board to shed its responsibility in the planned development of the former Christen ranch.

In effect, trustees said they were opposed to it and would inform neighboring school districts both of their stand and the move taken by South San Francisco.

Two weeks ago, the South San Francisco board authorized its superintendent, Paul Nielsen, to contact the county's school redistricting committee on changing boundaries.

The board is disturbed over plans for the Christen ranch, which call for mostly single family homes to be built in the area now served by South San Francisco schools.

Thomas Noonan, president of the Jefferson board, declared that the county committee on

Hospital Pact Due

The shortage of hospital emergency service in Daly City may be relieved somewhat Friday when the board of trustees of the U. C. Medical center meets in San Francisco.

The trustees will act on a contract with San Mateo county to provide emergency service to residents of Daly City and the North county.

Emergency patients are now brought to Kaiser Foundation hospital in South San Francisco or to Peninsula hospital in Burlingame.

Sign Ban Proposal Opposed

A Pacifica real estate salesman this week appealed to the city council not to outlaw "for sale" signs on front lawns, a move urged by the Pacifica Realtors association.

In a letter to the council, Roger Dickinson, of 832 Montezuma drive, stated that the signs are needed as a yardstick for the public to decide who is selling effectively.

The small, independent real estate agent needs this means of advertising, Dickinson claimed.

He said that other less drastic measures can be taken to improve the aesthetic appearance of the community, the reason given by realtors for banning the signs.

Dickinson asked that "A" boards be resticted to the minimum number required to direct traffic from the nearest cross street and that "sold" signs used only to impress neighbors be banned.

A memo from the planning commission will be received by councilmen tonight, asking that they expedite new zoning and sign ordinances and that they make a decision on the Palmetto avenue parking area study.

Councilman Fred Ballew will be absent from the council meeting this evening. He notified the city that he will be out of state for five days this week.

Next Wednesday has been set for a joint meeting of the City council and the Jefferson Union High School board.

Mrs. Kitty Bouly of 368 San Pedro avenue, a key figure in the move to stop Greyhound buses from parking on Pedro Point, this week asked councilmen to press for the return of bus service to the point.

When the Greyhound buses were moved to a parking lot at

Verducci Says Choice To Be Made in a Month

The Daly City Council, which said three months ago a decision on a new civic center site "was imminent" was pinned down to a one month deadline Monday.

The council also vetoed any plans of building the center, which would include a new city hall, by means of a bond issue in April.

Five residents near one of the sites being considered appeared at the city council meeting Monday to prod a decision on a final choice.

Speaking for the group, Mrs. E. D. Mason, of 460 Santa Barbara street, said:

"Several of the women in the [illegible] widows who are anxious to know what's going to happen to their homes."

She said people were being "left in the air" and wanted to know when the council was going to make up its mind. She said she heard the site choices had been narrowed to two.

Mayor Joseph Verducci said the council has been studying three or four sites and pending a title search on some of the properties involved, a decision would be made no later than a month from now, possibly sooner.

A suggestion by one resident, George Kirchubel, to finance the city hall by means of a bond issue met a negative response from the council.

Kirchubel argued that future councils would not be bound to the new city hall and that delay due to financing would spiral costs upwards.

Verducci said the council has been studying the financing of a city hall for a long time.

"We have requested $100,000 from the county's budget for facilities in the new building," he said. "The staff has also explored several avenues to obtain state and federal funds."

The city manager is negotiating a loan from the State Retirement fund to finance much of the cost.

"When we pick the site," Verducci said, "we're ready to go."

The mayor said a bond issue in April would delay the city hall over a year. "We hope to be starting construction by April."

In other action the council was told the city staff's fiscal methods were handled in a "most efficient manner" by auditor Alfred O. Belotz. The auditor initiated a program to examine each department's books in detail to make sure methods of cash disbursement are efficient.

School Unity Meet Delayed

A meeting of the augmented Committee on School Reorganization in the North county was postponed until October 1 to the Westmoor High school library at 8 p.m.

The committee is expected to take a final vote on a proposal to unify the elementary school districts of Jefferson, Bayshore, Laguna Salada and Brisbane with the Jefferson Union High school district.

Coast Warned on Realty Sign Bid

Real estate men are pressing for local ordinances to prohibit "For Sale" signs on front lawns in order to discriminate against Negro buyers, Charles Wilson, counsel for the State Fair Employment Practices commission, told a Pacifica meeting on "race and residents."

Currently in Pacifica, the local real estate association has asked the city council to pass such an ordinance.

"The ordinances are being passed in several California cities based on a proposed effort to improve the aesthetic appearance of the community," Wilson stated. "This is really an effort to get around the new state Fair Housing Act, but it is a weak one and will fail."

An overflow audience of more than 200 was present at the Vallemar school to hear the first in a series of three meetings on "race and residents" sponsored by the North Coast Community Council.

The national political strategy toward civil rights is now to delay until bad weather forces demonstrations from the streets, Wilson stated. When things have settled down a little, congress may pass a very mild civil rights bill, he predicted. This strategy won't work, the Negro attorney said, because "the mood of the Negro is now that he is willing to die unless something is done to correct the injustices of segregation."

Robert Peterson, an attorney and former real estate salesman, told the audience that they cannot look to real estate men to be the first to move toward integration.

"They cannot be crusaders. They are neutral and will be guided by the wishes of the homeowners who are the real vested real estate interests of the community," said Peterson.

"Salesmen will know they are not sincere prospective buyers and will receive them with indifference," he said.

Most clergymen of all denominations in the South would like to see their churches thrown open to all races, claimed the Rev. Hansel Stembridge, of the First Baptist church of Westlake, but if they take this stand in opposition to their congregations they are in danger of losing their pulpits. Rev. Stembridge said he resigned and left the South when members of his Virginia church refused to integrate.

City Annexes PG&E Plant In Bayshore

Annexation-minded Daly City slipped another acquisition under the wire Monday by initiating action to take in an uninhabited portion of industrial property in the Bayshore City area.

The property, belonging to the Pacific Gas and Electric company, has an estimated assessed valuation of $500,000.

In setting a public hearing for November 12, the council will beat the deadline for submitting annexations before a new county commission, which will have life or death power over all future action, takes over.

Any action initiated before the first commission is seated will not fall under the new law.

The PG&E property was originally included in Brisbane's sudden annexation in December last year.

Brisbane, proceeding under the uninhabited annexation law, cut in and out of Bayshore City.

Pacificans Debate Freeway Route 229 Plans

Pacificans may decide where Freeway 229 goes in Pacifica, but San Brunans will decide whether it goes there at all.

Division of highways spokesman C. F. Greene explained last Wednesday in a public hearing at Oceana High school, that there are three possible routes for the freeway west of Sweeney ridge. The decision on which one to develop is up to the state highway commission.

Plans, recommendations, and a full report on last week's hearing, will go to the commission in November or December. A decision is not expected before December or January, and would be largely influenced by opinions expressed at the hearing or submitted in writing. The road would probably not be built for 10 years.

The residents of San Bruno, however, are being asked to vote if want the freeway going through their community.

Greene said, following the hearing, that if San Bruno decides against its end of the freeway, the coast end would probably not be developed.

"It would be a two-mile freeway to nowhere," he said, "and cost 10 million dollars."

The Pacifica segment of the roadway runs only between the coast highway and Sweeney ridge. Connection between it and Skyline is planned in the San Bruno segment.

Some 70 citizens showed up for the hearing, most of them to object to whichever of the three proposed routes would come closest to home.

State engineers have developed possible designs which would drop off Sweeney ridge and curve down to the coast highway on a 7 per cent grade.

One of the three routes is called Route N. It would swing across the ridge at the "saddle" just south of San Francisco's county jail, then loop northward around the valley just south of Sharp Park road, cross the valley southward on a 100-foot high dam, and swing westward to coast highway at the ridge between Sharp Park and Vallemar.

The next southerly route is "I." This one follows directly westward on the ridge between Sharp Park and Vallemar, but the grade is such that it would cross the coast highway at 110 feet elevation, and loop beachward and southward to join the coast road at Rockaway Beach.

Route "R," longest and most expensive, would swing southward along Sweeney ridge, crossing the second ridge above Rockaway Beach, and swing westward down the valley there to the coast highway.

Greene said the "N" route would be 2.2 miles long, serve the greatest number of users, destroy 15 homes and 11 other buildings, and cost $10.7 million.

The "I" route, he said, would be 2.3 miles long, serve the next largest number of drivers, destroy seven homes and nine other buildings, and cost $10.6 millions.

The "R" route would be 3.5 miles long, serve 16,220 people daily, by 1985, would destroy 23 homes and four other buildings, and cost $13.5 million to build.

Greene specified that none of the three routes is a favorite or is recommended. Residents nevertheless challenged each of the routes as though it were a completed highway.

San Francisco's recreation department said it would object to Route N because it would chop up the rifle range area above Sharp Park.

WESTLAKE STORES OPEN WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHTS

NEW POSITION

Bernicchi Heads Sanitation Unit

Former Daly City resident Robert V. Bernicchi was hired last week as district engineer and manager of the North San Mateo County Sanitation district.

The position is new.

Bernicchi, 30, leaves the planning firm of Wilsey, Ham and Blair to take the position as chief administrator of the district.

He also will act as technical advisor to the board of directors on district operations and future annexations.

A graduate of the engineering school at the University of California, he once was a civil engineer for the City of Daly City.

A native of Daly City, he attended City College of San Francisco.

Bernicchi also has held positions with the State Division of Highways, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Pacific Gas and Electric and Dan Coleman associates.

While with the Army Corps of Engineers, he was a terrain intelligence analyst with the Beach Erosion board in Washington, D.C.

At Wilsey, Ham and Blair, he worked on the plans for the Christen ranch, presently proposed for annexation to Daly City.

Bernicchi lives at 2541 Wentworth drive in San Bruno. He is married and has three children, Robyn, 5, Karyn, 3, and Robert, 2.

Bernicchi is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers, the California Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Pacificans Debate 3 Road Plans

Mrs. James Stark, 15 Crespi drive, said she represented 50 homeowners in the Linda Mar Highlands who were "opposed to R route, in body." She suggested Route I because it is "shorter and less complicated," and said "we should not lose sight of the fact that R route would cost $2.9 million more to build."

She illustrated the plight of her neighborhood by saying that, although all of them had bought their homes with an idea of sending down roots, one man has now canceled his order at the nursery for a tree.

"There's no use planting his tree," she said, "if he cannot watch it send down roots and grow because a freeway comes through."

Citizens asked the highwaymen for better publicity on road plans, and suggested sellers should tell home buyers of all proposed highways in the area.

Assemblyman Leo Ryan commented that "Pacifica is in desperate need of cross-county laterals, and that any of these three will save lives in the shortened time to hospitals."

then were to have had dinner at his brother's home before leaving for the airport.

Saturday afternoon, Esther Charette phoned the brother and told him that she and her husband had decided to postpone the trip because the drive to Seaside had tired her husband.

She also said they would not be over for dinner.

The mother returned to Seaside by bus Sunday morning.

Later Sunday, Raymond Charette drove by his brother's home and seeing the family cat in the window and what he thought was a light on in a rear bedroom, assumed everything was all right.

However, after driving past the home several times Monday and still seeing the light on, he became worried.

Monday evening, he met Costanzo and the two men entered the garage where they found Charette on the floor.

Coroner Jessen said it appeared that the couple had been dead several hours and perhaps as long as a day or so when they were discovered.

the Sea Bowl, north of Linda Mar, service to Pedro Point residents was discontinued.

Mrs. Bouly claimed the Greyhound company has established a precedent in furnishing bus service to Pedro Point and Shelter Cove residents for "over ten years."

She said that now "to add insult to injury," the buses, after discharging Pedro Point residents in Linda Mar then continue on to make their turn around on San Pedro road, at the entrance to the point.

A Special Meet Set By JUHS

By LOUANNE HEATH

The Board of Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School district will meet in a special session Monday night to study school district unification and a North county configuration plan.

The final meeting of the augmented San Mateo County committee on School District Reorganization will be held Tuesday and, according to Jefferson District Superintendent Edward D. Morgan, if the committee is able to settle all questions to be considered at that time, the whole issue of unification might be put to the voters as early as spring, 1964.

Monday night's special session will be devoted to a complete study of the issues and proposals to be considered Tuesday.

Morgan, in outlining this week a general agenda for the special meeting, announced that he will have information on all pertinent laws passed by the legislature during the last session that are applicable so that the trustees will have a clear idea of the regulations and limitations placed upon them by the legislature.

"This will be the final meeting," Morgan explained, "and not only will the representatives be voting on the final recommendations of the unification committee, but they will be asked to vote on the size of a board of trustees, the tax rate and the manner in which existing bonded indebtedness will be handled.

"It is true," Morgan continued, "that this county requested and was granted a one year delay before the county's proposal for unification was to be submitted.

"But what many people have failed to understand is that we are already into that year. Had we not received the postponement our report would have been due September 15.

"If the questions to be considered Tuesday are settled, it is my opinion that the committee's recommendation will be on its way to the state board by November 1 and that the voters will be asked to make some sort of a decision on unification this coming spring."

in Daly City now are instructed to take patients to the closest hospital with emergency facilities.

For some parts of Daly City, the U. C. Medical center will be closer.

The proposed contract between the private hospital in San Francisco and San Mateo county is believed to be unique in California, according to City Manager Edward Frank.

The contract insures the hospital that costs of treating indigent patients—patients who cannot pay and would otherwise be sent to the county hospital—will be paid for by the county.

The patient would be transferred to the county hospital as soon as possible.

IN PACIFICA

Sitts, Cardinal Named to Boards

By LOIS McNALLY

Lloyd Sitts, former president of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed to the Pacifica planning commission by the City Council.

He replaces Richard Selmi. In a personnel session, the Council also named Rene Cardinal to the Pacifica Personnel Advisory board, replacing James Kafantaris.

Sitts, a contractor, is expected to be strongly pro-business on the planning commission.

An informed source said that the appointments are controversial among city councilmen because of the political viewpoints of the two men.

The source suggested they may not be approved unanimously by the council in regular session tonight.

If so, this would be the first time this has happened in Pacifica.

Sitts has been active in the Lions club, P-TA and Scouting and once ran unsuccessfully for the Laguna-Salada school board.

Former Planning Commissioner Selmi resigned, citing the pressure of business, after Chairman James Fox complained to city councilmen that Selmi had missed several meetings without notifying the commission.

Cardinal, who lives at 4 Duran court in Linda Mar, ran for the Laguna-Salada school board last spring and was narrowly edged out by Rodney Clark.

Cardinal has recently become more active in city politics. A parcel service controller, he replaces a union man on the board, James Kafantaris, who resigned last June, charging the board was ineffective and did not fairly represent the views of all the employes.

taking in only the industrial properties and excluding inhabited areas.

A battle between Brisbane and the Bayshore Sanitation district has been bouncing in and out the courts ever since.

At one of the hearings, Bayshore's Attorney Thomas Bocci argued that the definition of inhabited territory included roads to and from homes.

Access roads to the Midway Village Housing project surrounding the PG&E properties, he contended, are part of the homes and Brisbane, therefore, was proceeding under the wrong annexation act.

Brisbane, fearful of losing the annexation on the technicality, altered the annexation map to exclude the properties.

In another annexation action, the city council held a second hearing on the Pedemonte annexation, which includes one city block and portions of two others on 87th, 88th and 89th streets.

school reorganization should be apprised of the South San Francisco move.

He commented that the committee should not cast its final vote on a reorganization plan for north county schools until it had studied South San Francisco's bid.

The South San Francisco Unified school district has not been included in the committee's reorganization study.

Commenting on this, Noonan declared:

"South San Francisco apparently did a real nice job of lobbying the county committee to insulate itself from study and apparently could also do a good job lobbying the board of supervisors on changing its boundaries."

Trustee O. Wayne observed that "they (SSF) want their cake and eat it too."

He said the board should back up an administrative decision made in 1960-61 that when the Christen land was developed, the extension of Hickey boulevard would be the dividing line between the South San Francisco district and the Jefferson High and Jefferson Elementary school districts.

Noonan pointed out that the elementary district several years prior to the administration decision had passed a resolution to that effect.

In the end, the board voted to reaffirm that resolution and to inform other boards and the county reorganization committee of its move.

In other action, the board decided to survey its transportation program affecting students who live on the south side of Alemany boulevard and attend schools on the north side.

The decision was prompted by a complaint from Jerry Lane of 60 Crestwood drive who said pupils attending Fernando Rivera school who lived roughly west of Lake Merced and south of Alemany were being subjected to traffic hazards.

How Christen Annex Will Affect DC

City Will Double Its Total Area

By RON BATES

DEVELOPMENT OF the former Christen ranch in the southern part of Daly City is going to have a profound effect on the physical make-up of the county's northern-most municipality.

The city will almost double its size and add approximately 22,000 people.

Daly City has taken steps to annex the 916-acre ranch. A public hearing has been set for October 14.

The annexation, which will give Daly City a moon-like shape, is the city's largest since the annexation of Westlake in 1949.

The Suburban Realty company, formed by Crocker Land company and Standard Builders, hired economists, planners and engineers to develop a complete land use plan for the property.

The property is bounded on the west by Skyline boulevard and on the east by the new Junipero Serra freeway.

At the key junction of Junipero Serra freeway and a proposed lateral to the Cabrillo freeway, the developers plan to construct a huge 73-acre regional shopping center.

The State Division of Highways has estimated that 205,000 autos will pass through that intersection daily in the future. Engineers for the developers say the state's estimates in the past have been consistently low.

Except for the Bayshore freeway, all traffic going down the Peninsula or down the Coast will pass this junction.

TO SIPHON OFF the potential customers, the planners have agreed to pay the cost of construction of on and off ramps for the freeways.

The shopping center itself will be "weather-proof" with a bazaar-type atmosphere under one roof.

It will cover an estimated 73 acres when fully completed. By comparison, the Hillsdale shopping center is only 37 acres.

Thinking ahead, the developers have even planned a stop for an underground rapid transit system with elevators to bring customers up to the shopping center.

Directly across the freeway is the new Mary's Help hospital. On property surrounding the hospital, the developers plan to build a number of medical and professional office buildings.

Other commercial shopping centers of a service nature are planned in residential areas of the development.

The large shopping center is expected to draw customers away from the Stonestown and Hillsdale shopping areas and to aid present shopping centers in the Daly City area by bringing in customers who would normally go elsewhere.

Economists have studied the income of the surrounding area and how much is spent. The difference between the two figures indicates, they say, that a large regional shopping center could be supported.

IN OTHER parts of the Christen ranch, the engineers have planned high density tower apartments, medium density apartments and single family dwellings.

The high density tower apartments will be built close to the freeways on the west and east sides of the development. Engineers will utilize steep slopes that normally would not be used.

The apartments, covering 64 acres, are planned to make full use of views without blocking adjacent apartments. Each will have landscaped spaces.

Seven-story apartments with depressd garages are one example of the medium density residences, which will cover 128 acres. The developers have several different designs.

Terrace apartments will "step down" the steeper slopes of the development, connected by pedestrian stairways in the pattern of Telegraph Hill in San Francisco.

As an added convenience, inclined elevators, much like the European funiculars, will serve each apartment level.

Most of the 1500 single family homes in the Christen ranch will be built in the southern part of the development to take advantage of more sunny weather there.

Construction is expected to begin there in the latter part of 1964.

The Suburban Realty firm will use a series of cul de sacs to utilize land for open green acres that would otherwise be streets.

Single family homes will occupy 118 acres or almost one half of the residential land. They will account for 25 per cent of the total dwellings.

Included among the city facilities is a 16-million gallon water reservoir which will corect a water storage deficiency in Daly City.

AERIAL VIEW — An architectural conception of the Christen Ranch development as seen from the north illustrates what the new community will look like when fully completed. At the bottom is the Mary's Help Hospital now under construction. The regional shopping center is in the foreground at the foot of the Chinese Cemetery Hill. South of the shopping center are hillside terrace apartments and to the right against Skyline boulevard is one group of tower apartments. The other group of tower apartments is on the left overlooking Junipero Serra freeway. The major area of the site farther south contains the single family and duplex residential areas with accompanying school sites and neighborhood shopping centers.

Tax Burden To Be Eased By Revenues

ONE OF the major questions expressed so far by Daly City residents on the Christen Ranch annexation is: "How does it affect my pocketbook?"

According to Finance Director Joseph Arch, the annexation is expected to lighten the tax load.

In fact, if the property were in the city now and fully developed, the current tax rate of $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation would be $1.03, he said.

A 73-acre regional shopping center, at full development, is expected to pour the greenery into the city coffers at the rate of $679,970 annually, while taxes on the 961-acre development will approximate $662,673.

While the city will experience a 35 per cent increase in population, the assessed valuation of the city will be increased $43,587,000 from its present $63 million.

With the population of Daly City increasing 35 per cent, Arch figures the cost of providing services should also jump 35 per cent.

Not including capital outlay and water department expenditures, the budget of Daly City is $2,427,950. It is estimated then that servicing the Christen development will cost the city $849,782.

Arch said, however, that the same 35 per cent ratio applied to the varied revenue figures, not including property taxes and one-half of the sales tax, amounts to only $165,235.

A GOOD BULK of the revenues—slightly over $400,000—will come from an annexation fee required by the city.

The law is designed to make the developer pay his way as he developes the land, Arch said.

The city will also derive income from state subventions, motor vehicle in lieu taxes, and alcohol beverage taxes.

Standard Builders company, half of the Suburban Realty combine formed to develop the Christen Ranch, will move its offices into the area and will produce approximately $20,000 annually on the sale of building materials alone.

If the annexation is completed, the property will be placed on the city tax rolls and the city will receive $35,000 while the land stands unused.

After grading operations and construction of streets, the value of the land will spiral upward and with it the tax monies into city coffers.

Residential development will begin in the southern end of the Christen Ranch. It is then that police and fire protection will be provided by the city.

At full development, with a population of 21,000, it is estimated that 21 policemen, 21 firemen, four administrative personnel and 18 public works personnel will be needed to service the area.

The city also will have to spend money on equipment, building materials and construction of such facilities as fire stations, a library, civic center and reservoirs.

Two and a Half Schools Planned in Christen Land

The Christen Ranch will be the home of two and a half high schools when it reaches its full population potential—one private and the remainder public.

The whole public school will be built in the Jefferson Union High school district, north of the proposed extension of Hickey boulevard, while the half a school will be partly in Daly City and partly in the unincorporated areas of Westborough.

The private school will be built by the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco.

The Jefferson school will be the fifth in the district and is expected to take care of an overflowing student population in the current boundaries of Daly City.

According to superintendent Edward Morgan, Westmoor High school has almost reached its capacity of 2200 students and that's where he would like to stop.

The half a school would be in the South San Francisco Unified school district, which also takes in the Westborough lands.

Most of the residential development would be located in the South San Francisco district and the trustees, fearful of getting all the kids and none of the tax monies, have initiated proceedings to shed the area.

Both the Jefferson High school district and the Jefferson Elementary school district have indicated they do not want the area.

Plans for a public high school were originally left off the developers' preliminary maps.

Location of a high school in the area was finally determined when two of three original sites for a high school in the Jefferson district were eliminated in research by the Stanford Research Institute.

The Jefferson school would serve the communities of Christen Ranch, upper Westlake, St. Francis Heights, Westview, Pacific Heights and Portola Heights.

Residential Plan

QUIET NEIGHBORHOODS — Single family homes will be grouped around a cul-de-sac, which will permit land otherwise used for streets to be used for open green areas. Single family homes will ocupy one half of the residential land and will account for 25 per cent of the total dwellings according to the master plan.

High Living

TOWER APARTMENTS — High rise apartments, rising above two-level parking garages, will occupy a minimum of land area in the high density portion of the Christen development. High rise will be something new to Daly City, made possible because of a new zoning ordinance.

By LE PACINI

THERE WAS a story in a San Francisco daily recently, telling of a meeting of the Giants hierarchy in which they discussed team needs for 1964.

According to the story, Giant chiefs figured the biggest need was in the pitching department, with the prime concern being one or two short order stoppers.

We still contend that the Giants had a respectable pitching staff this year (at this writing, they rank fourth in earned run averages), and though we agree that they could use a reliever of the Stu Miller stripe, we feel that Giant brass is missing the big bet in not shoring up their defense—especially around that keystone sack.

Houston just recently "pulled ahead"—and then just barely—of the Giants in the race to see what team would finish last (that's twentieth,—in the majors in doubleplays.

There's nothing like a snappy doubleplay in a tight situation to encourage a pitcher to go on to finer things, and the Giants just haven't delivered that relief this year.

Not having Davenport at third on a steady basis this year hurt, but the biggest hurt came around shortstop-second base where Chuck Hiller finally proved that he just isn't a good major league second baseman, and where Jose Pagan did little to substantiate Alvin Dark's contention that the little guy is probably the best in the business.

We'd say some trades in this area are in order and luckily and coincidentally, Cleveland may be the team which is tailor-made to Giant needs.

To begin with, the two clubs traditionally play a long string of spring exhibition games against each other and despite a few bean-balling incidents this year, still seem to be friendly.

They will be allowed in 1964, therefore, to take long looks at each other and may discover interesting things.

For instance, the Indians have four proven (and one nearly proven) shortstop-second basemen. They have Dick Howser, who will probably be their regular shortstop if his legs hold up, and veteran shortstop-second basemen Woody Held and Jerry Kindall.

They also have a fine young rookie, Larry Brown, who took over when Howser was injured but who is said to be probably a better second baseman than he is a shortstop—a Bobby Richardson type.

They also have Tony Martinez, the spring training sensation who started the season as the regular Indian shortstop, but who faded, possibly being brought up a year too soon.

Now, that's entirely too many good shortstops for any team, especially for one that needs a right-handed slugging outfielder — like Feline Alou. Felipe might be expandable, especially if he goes into a slump every time Matty is farmed to Tacoma.

It is something to think about over the winter.

WHILE ON the subject of defense, it's interesting to note that the old saw is changing to "the best offense is a good defense."

USF's great Bill Russell-Casey Jones basketball teams proved it as the Celtics continue to prove it every year. The football Giants have always known the secret formula, and, as we always say, that's the basic difference between the Yankees and most other baseball teams.

If defense—especially that inner garden defense—is a true measure of winning proficiency, then it appears that the American league has all the strength.

Next time you have a few minutes and you're interested in such little oddities, check box scores and you'll find that the National league has only one really top-notch defensive infield. It belongs to St. Louis with Ken Boyer at third, Dick Groat at short, Julian Javier at second and Bill White at first.

Milwaukee has a pretty good one when aging shortstop Roy McMillan and his side-kick, also aging Frank Bolling, are in the lineup together and when third sacker Eddie Mathews isn't in the outfield. But even then, they have no slick first baseman at any time.

THINGS ARE vastly different in the American league. You'd have to rate four of its teams as having excellent defensive infields and another four as at least better than average.

Only Washington and Detroit would be left off the list.

New York has Clete Boyer, Tony Kubek, Bobby Richardson and Joe Pepitone; Minnesota goes with Rich Rollins, Zorro Versalles, Bernie Allen and Vic Power; at Chicago it's rookie Pete Ward, Ron Hansen, Nellie Fox and Joe Cunningham; Baltimore fields Brooks Robinson, Luey Aparicio, Jerry Adair and Jim Gentile.

Except for Dick Stuart at first, Boston is top grade with Frank Malzone, Eddie Bressoud and Chuck Schilling. We've already mentioned much of Cleveland's infield assets.

Even Kansas City's lowly Athletics have a fair defensive infield with Ed Charles, Wayne Causey and Jerry Lumpe. Dick Siebern at first, kind of ruins things.

And despite its disappointing standing this year, the Angels aren't bad. They're unsteady at third and first but have promising San Franciscan Jim Fregosi at short and slick Billy Moran at second.

Westmoor Rolls Over Aragon

DONS ARE DISMAL

Hix Impresses With 'Houdini' Ball Handling

By RON REID

Perhaps with bitter memories of last season still in mind, the Aragon High school Dons unimpressively opened their 1963 football season Friday against the rambling Rams of Westmoor at San Mateo High school field. Aragon, starting its initial varsity season -ast year, shockingly scored a 7-6 victory over the Daly City gridders in that 1962 inaugural.

And while the Dons were to achieve greater repute during the practice season later, they still finished on the bottom of the mid-Peninsula league when the season had ended.

If reverse psychology is true, Aragon should do considerably better in the league this season—for Westmoor scampered to a 28-6 victory over the Dons Friday after spotting them a first-quarter touchdown with the game less than five minutes old.

"We need lots of improvement," Aragon coach Wayne Taylor stated after the game, and his sentiments must have echoed the thoughts of every Aragon fan in the crowd.

Aragon's brief moment of glory struck Westmoor like a lightning bolt—and was gone just as quickly.

Lars Flodihn, the Dons' best rusher and their only consistent offensive threat, set up a scoring jaunt by halfback Bob Allen when he broke around the right side of the Rams' line and sprinted 56 yards to the Westmoor 11 on Aragon's third scrimmage play of the game.

After Allen's touchdown, however, Westmoor blocked the PAT attempt and stymied their hosts for the rest of the game.

Hero of the Westmoor victory was diminutive quarterback Bruce Hix, who constantly harrassed the Aragon defense with some of the trickiest ball-handling exhibited by any prep on the local scene.

Hix also kept the Aragon defense on the thin edge of hysteria with both his running and passing.

He and junior halfback Ron Baker accounted for two Westmoor touchdowns each and a total of 26 points, with Baker's first touchdown the most exciting play of the game.

Westmoor had stiffened when Aragon drove to the Ram 10-yard line midway through the second quarter and threw the Dons back to the Westmoor 30.

Then quarterback Wayne Devincenzi tried a pass which Baker intercepted on the 20 to race all the 80 yards between him and the goal line.

Hix put Westmoor in front almost immediately after Aragon kicked off after the opening touchdown.

He led his mates 60 yards in eight plays and capped the drive with a three-yard bootleg ran for the touchdown. Dave Mahoney ran for the go-ahead PAT point.

Then Aragon got the ball for another four plays, went nowhere, and Randy Cort punted dead on the Westmoor 29.

Hix's 34-yard pass to Marc Mallinger and Mahoney's 22-yard smash through the middle of the Aragon line were the big plays in the Rams' second touchdown drive, which covered 71 yards in six plays. Hix again capped the march with a 10-yard run and ran for the PAT.

A poor Aragon punt and a costly pass interference penalty set up the final Westmoor tally, which came on Baker's one-yard run.

Jeff Drops Opener To Terra Linda

By STU HURST

Coach Joe McGrath's Jefferson High Indians must develop a more solid defensive line if they hope to become a serious threat in the North Peninsula league title race.

he Indians also must find a passer to supplement their fine ground game.

Jefferson was dominated by the Terra Linda Trojans in the team's first outing of the 1Z963 season Friday. This was the second practice game for th eTrojans and experience told the tale.

Terra Linda defeated the Indians 26-18 as time and again Rich Edwards picked long gains through the heart of the Jeff line.

Edwards rushed for 165 yards past the hapless Indians and had two long runs of over 50 yards each called back due to penalties.

On the brighter side for McGrath, however, was the fine group of backs on his roster, including Leo Gotelli, Al Namanny, and Wayne White.

The Indians rushed for a total of 187 yards, which netted the 11 first downs and 2 TD's.

Jeff was led by the running of White who gained a total of 86 yards in 10 carries. White scored 2 TD's on runs of 45 and 9 yards.

The Indians' poor pass attack did the ultimate damage, however, as quarterback Don Fisicaro could only manage 3 for 11, with 2 interceptions.

Without air support the land battle becomes infinitely harder if not virtually impossible.

CLOTHING STOLEN

Ralph E. McNutt of 16 Garden Grove drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that clothing had been stolen from his auto while it was in a supermarket parking lot. He estimated his loss at $10.

WESTMOOR halfback Paul McHale (24) evades the outstretched arms of Aragon's Dave Brandt (64) for a short gain before Rod Wilson (43) comes up to tackle him. Ram quarterback Bruce Hix (15) helped McHale get started. Rams won the opening game of the season for both schools, 28-6.

El Camino Wins Opener

The El Camino High school varsity football team will travel to the East Bay Friday afternoon, sheltering hopes that they will then receive their second taste of victory this young season.

Bob Sexton, making his first debut as head coach a successful one, is hopeful that his team will prove that Friday night's 9-0 victory over Lick-Wilmerding was no accident.

El Camino wrapped up the slow-starting contest with 10:13 left in the game. Sparked by the running of halfback John LaSota and quarterback Mike Tyler, the Colts drove from their own 17 to pay-dirt in 14 plays.

Tyler rushed into the end zone from the 10 for the only touchdown of the contest. Walt Harris added the PAT.

Despite a slow start at the opening of the game, El Camino came on to show gridiron maturity before the contest ended.

El Camino drew first blood with nine minutes remaining in the opening period when linebacker Sam Grandstaff recovered a Lick-Wilmerding fumble in the end zone for a safety.

Sexton's charges went on the move for the first time in the game late in the first period when fullback Walt Harris and halfback Ron Reinig combined on running plays to put El Camino on the Lick 30-yard line. A clipping penalty, however, ended that threat.

A 27-yard pass from Del Fisher to Jack Smith sparked Lick's most serious offensive show late in the first half. Lick-Wilmerding marched tothe Colt 13-yard line before the drive stalled.

Serra Bowl

THIS WEEK we find ourselves involved in a rundown of ladies and junior league action at Serra. About half our planned quota of gals are off and running in their new winter schedules and here is a roundup of early results.

With two weeks of play completed in the Tuesday Friarettes league, we have a four-way tie for top spot between the Hustlers, Team 1, the Fightin' Four, and the Gutter Goofs — each tallying four wins against two losses. Laura Olcese has high game with a 195 and high series with a 461 trio.

Two teams, the Pin-Ups and the Femmettes, got off to a good start in the Tuesday afternoon Femme Fatales league by sweeping all three games from their opponents on the opening week of play. Cathy Renn hit high game with a 180 total while Donna Wood's 443 series was high in that department.

In the Wednesday Coffee Clatch league, we find a first week three-way tie for top spot with teams 14, 7, and 6 all scoring three wins. Betty Elliott banged high game of the week with a 174 effort and Lee Driscoll had high series with her 411 threesome.

All alone at the top of the heap in the Wednesday afternoon Rockettes league are the Up'n Comings. In two weeks of competition, these gals have yet to suffer a single loss. High game in this loop is Lorraine Pauley's 166 while top series is Joyce Donnelly's 421 tally.

For the first time, Serra Bowl has entered a team in the Junior "900" Masters traveling league and our boys are off to a pretty fair start.

Against the Millbrae team at Broadway Bowl last week, the kids salvaged only one win after a shaky start. This week at the Grand Lanes in Hayward, our boys swept all three games from the 299 Sport Shop lads from Redwood City on games of 947, 937, and 888 for a 2773 team total. Bob Cowan led the pack with a 224-608 series.

Winter leagues are still forming at Serra. Anyone interested can join a league by calling WY 2-3444.

Warriors Bow to San Lorenzo, 7-6

Coach Ray DeJong will be out to discover a cure for his stalled South San Francisco Warriors before Friday night when the San Mateo Bearcats invade Clifford field for an 8 p.m. battle.

DeJong, bewildered over his team's lack of "Get up and go" in their first season's encounter with the San Lorenzo Rebels here Friday afternoon, plans to work his charges hard.

South S.F., twice victorious over the Rebels in the past two years, found the tables reversed when they came out on the short end of a 7-6 score Friday.

The Warriors seemed to have things well in hand at the start, with senior quarterback Larry Dale Curry and Ron Davis. His passes of 24 and 17 yards set the Warriors at San Lorenzo's 17-yard line, where an attempted field goal by Sam Pretari was wide.

Guard Rocky McClure paved the way for the Warriors' lone touchdown by recovering a fumble after a Warrior onside kick. with 9:49 remaining in the third quarter, sophomore fullback Greg Jones sprinted off tackl efor a 9-yard touchdown run. The attempted conversion kick was blocked.

A 15-yard penalty against South S.F. gave San Lorenzo its shot at victory three minutes later. The infraction set the ball down on the Warrior 14-yard line where burly fullback Mike Barber banged his way to the eight.

Barber slashed through the center of the line on the next play for the touchdown which tied the score and when Gordon Smith successfully booted the extra point, South S.F. was behind.

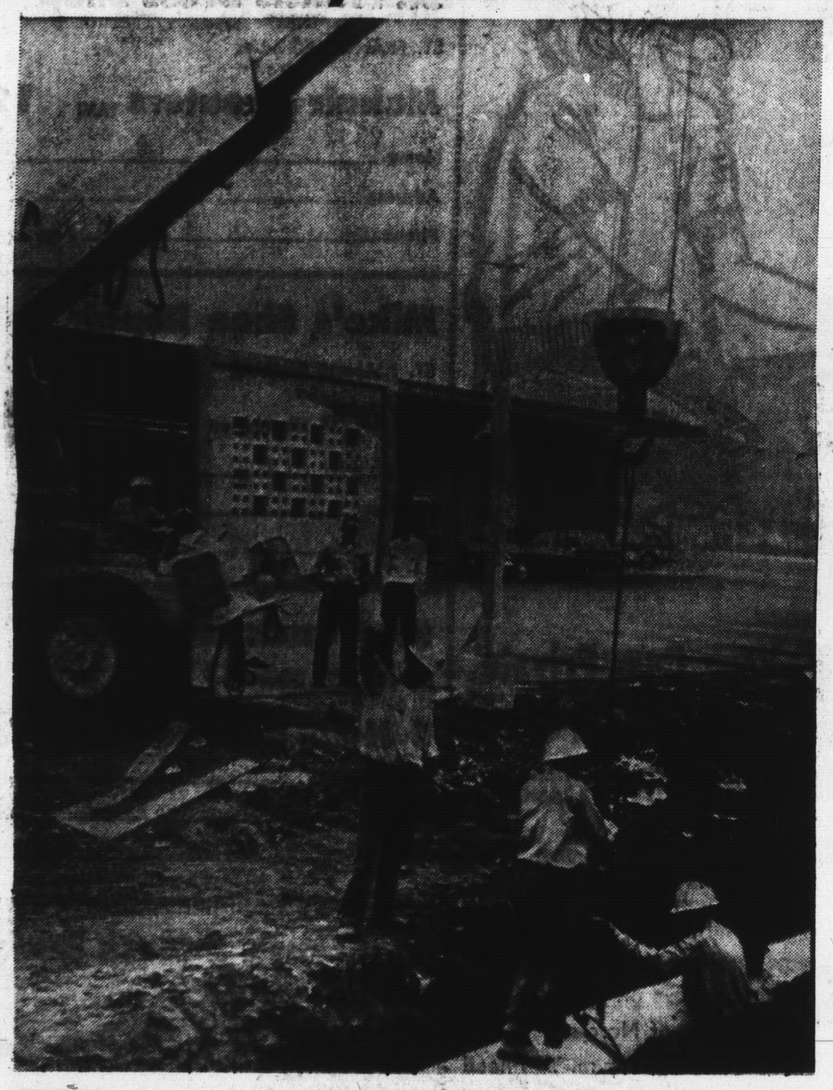
Building a Walkway

TRACTOR helps a huge scraper fill with dirt in the building of a walkway alongside the freeway. The roar and whine of machinery along three miles of Pacifica's old coast highway has become a familiar sound to residents.

Giant-Sized Pipe

THE SIZE of just one section of storm drain being installed along the freeway is emphasized in this unusual camera angle. James J. Campoli operates the crane in the background as rigger Ray Stevens guides the pipe section into place.

Easy Does It!



WORKMEN, using a crane, lower a storm drain into place along the route of the freeway. Construction of the super highway meant, in addition to the building of the road itself, the relocation of utility lines, water pipes, storm drains and the like.

Deep Down

HOPTO shovel is employed to dig a trench ten feet deep along the freeway for storm drains. Note the worker standing to the left of the shovel at the bottom of the trench.

Assembling a Scale

SCALE is assembled along the Freeway route in Vallemar. Workmen here are installing delicate measuring parts. The scale is used to weigh fill material. Trucks hauling fill material are driven onto the scale platform. Some 24,000 tons of fill will be laid down between Vallemar and Rockaway to make a two-foot blanket.

POST-TIMES PHOTOS

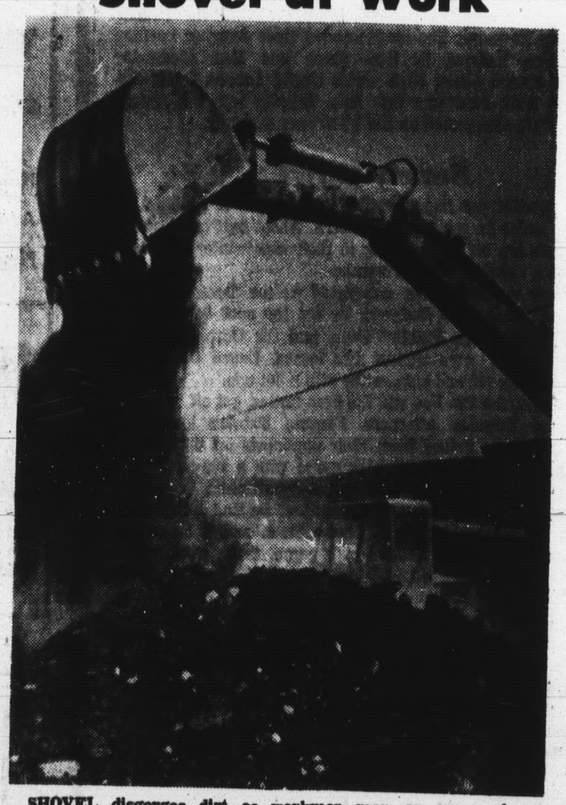
A Scraper and Tractor in Tandem

A SCRAPER and tractor work in tandem to eat away a hill between Mori's Point and Vallemar. Hundreds of tons of earth will be moved before construction of the freeway is complete. In center background is an auto moving on the present coast highway. The McNamara company of Canada is using new equipment to built the freeway.

Shovel at Work



SHOVEL disgorges dirt as workmen man an army of machines to move small mountains in the highway project. Although the construction is necessarily an inconvenience to motorists, most Pacificans have taken the inconvenience in stride — thinking ahead, perhaps, to the day when the highway will be completed and an important asset to their community.

Pacifica States Apartment Study

Pacifica planning commissioners last week agreed to discuss ways of raising construction standards for apartment projects at their October 16 meeting.

The meeting date was scheduled after a letter was received from city councilmen expressing concern over the low assessed valuation and the high ratio of children in many of the apartment projects that have been constructed in the city.

Commissioners will review various ways of increasing recreational and landscaped areas, of improving design for better aesthetic appearances and for decreasing the population density.

Two major projects were put over for a week by the commission.

A proposal of B. D. Hembree to construct an eight unit apartment house at 122 Hilton lane was held over after representatives of the Friends of the Library appeared to point out that the proposed apartment is immediately adjacent to the site of the new branch library planned by the county.

Commissioners agreed to hold plans over so the architect for the library and the architect for the apartment can meet together and prepare plans to make both structures more compatable in appearance.

Also held over were plans of the Oddstad Development company for a new apartment project north of Pacific Manor.

The delay was made at the request of the council to give Mayor Harold Feyge time to appoint a committee to determine if the area cannot be used for commercial development.

A tenative map of the new Fairmont No. 3 subdivision was given conditional approval after Assistant Superintendent of Schools John Munt appeared to inform the commission he is working out plans for a new school site with representatives of the Doelger Development company.

A year's permit was granted for a new quarry east of the Coast highway between Vallemar and Rockaway Beach. The quarry, sought by Mose Mastelotto, will be used to develop a commercial area on the property and to provide subbase rock for the new freeway now being constructed.

David H. High was given permission to construct an apartment at the northwest corner of Clarendon road and Lakeview avenue.

An application from Coastside Builders, Inc., for a home on a substandard size lot on Livingston avenue on Pedro Point was turned down.

Coast School Is Caught in Site Squeeze

The Laguna Salada school district is being caught in a squeeze between two major developers who are demanding an excessive price for a new school site to serve the new Fairmont No. 3 tract, Assistant School Superintendent John Munt reported to trustees last week.

Although he has been attempting to push ahead as rapidly as possible to prevent the resumption of double sessions, Munt told trustees that since the sale of the Christen Dairy ranch property for subdivision purposes, property owners are demanding too high a price for an eight-acre site needed for a new school.

Superintendent Frederick E. Lucas pointed out that although representatives of the Doelger company at first insisted the district needed only a school site and a half to serve its Fairmont development.

Munt, after a lengthy survey and long discussions with the company, was able to prove the district needs at least two-and-a-half school sites.

The board awarded Larson and Sons, Inc., a $12,000 contract to correct part of the estimated $30,000 damage done to the site of Cabrillo school site during last October's storms.

The school district now has a suit pending against the North Coast county water district in an attempt to recover damages.

It was reported that it has cost approximately $4800 to replace inadequate subbase material between the school and the Central Food market along Crespi drive. Lucas said last winter's storms left heavy deposits of "black muck" at each end of the school along Crespi drive.

The school district has charged the water district with leaving large quantities of uncompacted dirt above Cabrillo school when installing a water main.

Lucas reported that the district had been able to reclaim about 2700 square feet of its property along Vallemar creek by additional sandbagging, and asked that the area be blacktopped.

New Pacifica Bridges Open

The long-awaited bridges connecting Linda Mar boulevard, and Rosita road to Terra Nova boulevard and the high school were opened last week.

Loss of the bridges in the heavy storm and flood of a year ago has caused traffic to be rerouted over Alicante drive, a steep and winding thoroughfare, to the dismay of its residents.

The Alicante residents particularly objected to school buses traveling the street.

Voting on the controversial Alvarado-Alicante stop sign, Councilmen compromised on a temporary solution.

Because of agitation by 51 resi-Desvioe, the stop sign on Alicante Desvie, the stop sign on Alicante at Alvarado will not be removed, but a second stop sign will be installed on Alvarado at Alicante as recommended by the Safety Committee and Alicante residents.

Councilmen voted to review the situation in 60 to 90 days to see what effect the change in traffic routing through use of the Terra Nova-Linda Mar bridges will have on the Alicante situation.

Safety Unit Studies Aim

A three-man subcommittee will take a look forward and backward during the next month to see where the Daly City Safety committee is going and where it has been.

The subcommittee, composed of Police Sergeant Henry Sundermann, Finance Director Joseph Arch and administrative assistant David Rowe, will study the accomplishments and goals of the safety committee to form a clear program for the group in future meetings.

The committee, which meets the third Monday of each month in the council chambers, was dubious at its' last meeting about the purpose of its existence.

The report of the subcommittee will be discussed at the next meeting and forwarded to the city council for its approval.

In other action, Gus Constantinos was awarded $10 for a safety suggestion.

Recreation Attendance Shows Rise

Good weather and a varied program combined to draw 129,877 Daly City youngsters to the city parks and playgrounds during the Department of Recreation's ten-week summer program this year.

An estimated 98,709 children came to play and 31,168 came to take part in the various special activities.

The attendance was up from last year when 118,000 children took advantage of the program.

Marchbanks Park was the most popular place during the ten weeks as it drew 12,241. Westlake Park was close behind with 11,417. Both figures were an increase over last year.

The War Memorial Community center, with its gymnasium and meeting rooms, jumped from last year's 9604 to 10,376.

Among the schools which were opened for recreation during the summer, the most popular was the Colma school at Hillside boulevard and Market street. The attendance there was 7910.

The second most frequented school was M. Pauline Brown with 7443. The others were: Vista Mar, 6234; Daniel Webster, 5440; Lincoln, 4933; Jefferson Elementary, 4747, Westlake, 4046; Vista Grande, 3973; George Washington, 2699, Our Lady of Mercy, 2587; Woodrow Wilson, 2590, and Olympia, 2191.

Westmoor High School gymnasium, which was only open at nights, drew 2257.

Among the special activities, the cartoons and feature length movies proved the biggest attraction of the summer program. The cartoons drew 10,501 and the feature length movies pulled in 7930.

With the opening of tennis courts at Westmoor Park, the department began giving classes and 3144 youngsters responded to the call.

Those who weren't playing tennis took part in the various arts and crafts of the department. A total of 3129 attended.

Gem Jewelry and tumbling attracted 1680 and 1080, respectively.

Other activities and their attendances were: creative dance, 813; archery, 709; story drama, 700; youth band, 546; mosaics, 451; copper tooling, 309; and teen drama, 176.

AUTO DAMAGED

Mary J. Mitchell, 43, of 263 South Mayfair avenue, reported to police over the weekend that her car, parked in front of her vandals had broken a window in home.

S.F. State Sets Record

Enrollment at San Francisco State college hit a new peak at its Lake Merced campus where more than 15,000 students started classes last week.

The number of students signing up for courses exceeded the original estimates of the college's admissions officers. The projected 14,500 enrollment was met during the first two days of registration. Saturday's surge pushed the number on up into a record student body.

It surpassed the fall 1962 registration of 13,800 by more than 600 students. In 1961, the fall sign-up was 12,948 students.

Gun-Toting Motorist Halted by DC Officer

A Daly City policeman shot a gun-toting motorist in the leg early today after the motorist had brandished a revolver at the officer during a routine investigation and then refued to halt upon command.

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon was Carl A. Silveira, a 45-year-old cabinet maker who lives at 744 Stewart avenue, Colma.

He was taken to County General hospital for treatment of his leg wound.

The police officer, Charles Phillips, gave this sequence of events:

Phillips noticed a car standing at the entrance to Thornton Beach about 12:20 a.m. and asked the driver for identification.

The motorist sped away and was halted about a half mile down the road. As Phillips approached the auto, the motorist produced his driver's license and then stepped from his auto with a .45 caliber revolver pointed at the policeman.

The driver's attention was diverted momentarily when his auto began to roll forward. Phillips took advantage of this to duck behind his police car.

Colma Widow Files Fraud Siding Suit

A Colma widow, charging fraud in a $2750 deal to put aluminum siding on her Broadmoor home, filed suit in superior court Friday asking that the deal be cancelled.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Eva Gutierrez, 1411 Sweetwood drive, against the Allied Aluminum Products company of Oakland.

Mrs. Gutierrez said in March of 1962 she got an advertisement in the mail, stating that aluminum siding could be had for as little as $5 a month. She had been recently widowed, she said, and left without funds or support.

She answered the ad, according to the suit, and a Norman Terry came to the house.

He told her, Mrs. Gutierrez said, that her home would be used as a model, that "before and after" photographs would be taken for advertising and that the house would be shown on television. For this, she was told, she would get a special price and would receive a $50 commission on each sale resulting from showing her home.

Terry told her, Mrs. Gutierrez said, that it was his experience that such deals paid at least one such commission a month. On the strength of this, the plaintiff said, she signed a contract to pay $51.98 a month for 84 months, figuring that the actual cost to her would only be $1.98 a month.

Workmen were at the house the next day. The job was done, the suit states, but none of the other promises were fulfilled.

"The defendants at no time intended to use plaintiff's home as a display or model home," the suit charges.

It also alleges that the company did not intend to pay her any commission or to show her home on television.

She asks the court to rescind the contract and also to cancel the deed of trust on her home she gave the company to cover the deal.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

LAST WEEK we talked about lunches and cookies to brighten the lunch box. But the basis of most lunches is a sandwich and this week we'll explore some old and (I hope) new ideas in sandwich making.

I am well aware that most of our children like only white bread and act as though we should be arrested for sabotage if we slip any other variety of bread into their lunches. But we really are missing out on a taste treat if we neglect the many other types of bread. Rye, wheat, whole-wheat, raisin all are delicious and can add variety and flavor to lunches. This filling of cheese and orange marmalade is particularly good on whole-wheat bread.

CHEESE AND ORANGE MARMALADE SANDWCIHES

4 ozs. cream cheese
¼ cup cream ½ cup marmalade

Soften the cheese with the cream. Butter bread lightly and spread half with cream cheese and the other half with marmalade. Press together and slice into quarters.

CREAM CHEESE is a great mixer and combines nicely with many foods. Try adding chopped olives or chopped nuts or a little grated onion to softened cream cheese. Any of these combinations makes a nice sandwich.

Tuna fish is an old favorite. Remember to add lemon juice, parsley and a bit of onion to it the next time you use it in a sandwich.

IF YOU have a food grinder you can put it to good use by grinding up any leftover meats, roast or ham or such, with celery, a bit of onion, and mix with mayonnaise, salt and pepper. This makes a delicious sandwich and one brimming with food value.

You can always buy bread but if you enjoy baking your own, here are two recipes for quick bread that I've made over and over.

ORANGE QUICK BREAD

2 cups sifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
½ cup brown sugar
1-3 cup liquid or melted shortening
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup fresh orange juice
Grated rind of one orange
¼ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup rolled oats

Sift flour, measure. Sift with baking powder and salt. Add all the rest of the ingredients. Stir just to moisten. Bake in greased loaf pan, 350 degrees for one hour. Cool on wire rack for several hours. Makes one loaf.

As you can see, quick breads are basically about the same, the difference being in the fruits you add. This recipe calls for dates, a great favorite with many people, which add color, texture and flavor to the bread.

DATE QUICK BREAD

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. soda
½ cup sugar
1 cup quick oats
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup liquid shortening
½ cup milk
1 cup chopped dates
¼ cup chopped nuts

Sift flour, measure. Sift with baking powder and into a bowl. Add the oats and remaining ingredients: stir only to moisten dry ingredients. Pour into greased loaf pan and bake in 350 degree oven about one hour. Cool on wire rack for several hours. Makes one loaf.

Y-Wives, Keglers Underway

The Daly City and Pacifica Y-Wives and the YWCA's Tuesday Bowling league met yesterday morning as the fall program of the San Mateo county YWCA got under way.

Forty-eight members of the bowling league rolled the first games of the season.

"We met last week to form our teams, establish league rules and elect committee members," Mrs. Doris Arnott, league secretary-treasurer, explained.

"At that time we elected to have an 80 per cent handicap. We also chose Mrs. MaryAnn Peppins, Mrs. Beverly Waesanen and Mrs. Bernice Scanlon to a luncheon committee. Mrs. Yvonne McCambridge and Mrs. Doloris Calhoun were named to the trophy committee," Mrs. Arnott said.

Both Y-Wives groups began the season with enlarged memberships.

Mrs. Eleanor Raymond, leader of the Daly City Y-Wives, announced that her group will be treated to a special series on charm to be conducted the third Tuesday of each month by the county YWCA director, Virginia Church.

Other Y groups that will begin this week include the Pacifica and Daly City Bridge clubs, both of which will meet today, and the Friday Bridge club, which will meet this week at 10 a.m. in Westlake Bowl.

Women interested in YWCA activities may call the local unit office, PL 6-7370, for information.

INTERFAITH cooperation is something more than a cliche to the congregations of Temple Judea and the Lake Merced Church of Christ on Brotherhood way.

In the not too distant future Temple Judea will occupy a new synagogue on Brotherhood way but the buildings are not yet completed and the services for the High Holy Days now in progress required more room than is currently available to the congregation. So the two faiths have agreed to share the Church of Christ facilities during the Holy Days, in a true expression of brotherhood.

David Krinisky, young Daly City school teacher and music instructor, is one of the newest members of the Temple Judea choir and is among the devoted members of the congregation who are maintaining a rigorous schedule of rehearsals, performances and regular work-a-day duties.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am 16 and I attend an all-girl school. Therefore my dates are far and few between. Do you feel it is wrong for a girl in my position to ask a boy to her school dance? My parents think I am awful. Am I wrong? Dear J. C.

No you are not. It is proper to do what you are doing. How can you expect a guy to ask you to your school dances. He doesn't know when they are or anything about them. Go ahead and ask. This is the 20th century, not the middle-ages.

I am also a firm believer in the girl asking even if the school has girls and guys. Lots of guys just automatically feel you already have a date and never ask.

Then you both stay home.

Girls, if you want to ask some guy for a date, go ahead. It is not unlady-like or anything else.

In fact, just to break the ice and stir up a commotion, why don't you suggest a "girls ask the boys" dance real soon. In the beginning of the term is a good time.

It's a great spirit-getter. It's a girl's night all the way. They pay for the dance and anything afterwards. It's a real switch and will be a high spot for the term. Try it.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am a parent of two teen-agers. I was asked to help a teen-ager group to chaperone one of their dances. And I tell you I was shocked. It was the first time I had ever seen a colored boy ask to dance with a white girl.

What has happened? I believe in equality but that's too much. The kids thought nothing of it. I forbid my daughter to attend that group again. Am I wrong?

A Worried Parent.

Dear Worried Parent:

I will say that you signed the letter wrong. It should have been signed King of the World since you feel you are so much better than anyone else.

You refer to colored people as "they" as if it were some kind of a separate colony or different thing.

My dear writer, you are very wrong, not only in the eyes of the world but in the eyes of God, who says we are all brothers and sisters.

Tell me, would you be upset if your brother or sister asked that girl to dance? Then what makes you think that there is anything wrong with a girl dancing with this boy?

Our bodies, mind, heart, emotions, fears and love are the same. But hate is taught to us.

Thank God that our educational system is as wonderful as it is—that teen-agers can see the wrong that is being done to our fellow man and they can disregard hate.

Don't be so insecure that you have to feel you must persecute someone just to be able to feel superior or secure.

Why don't we all look closely at the golden rule: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Maybe we can change it a little to:

"Do unto ALL others as you would have them do unto you."

Hillerstrom Is Speaker At Westside

Per Hillerstrom, a Baptist layman, from Pacifica, and noted baritone soloist among the Bay area churches, will be the guest soloist at the Westside Baptist church, Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship hour.

The pastor, A. David Donnelly, will speak on the topic "Doing the Best You Can."

During the preaching portion of the worship service, a primary church service is conducted for primary and kindergarten age children.

The Sunday Church school hour begins at 9:45 a.m. at Westside Baptist church. Alton Swedberg, superintendent of the school, invites all who do not have a regular Sunday school to attend, to be present. Ten teachers make up the church school staff, with a class for every age group, nursery through adult.

This is the beginning of Sunday Church school week in the Baptist General conference churches, and special recognition will be given this fact.

The youth of the church meets at 6:15 p.m.

"Give Ye to Eat," is the topic for the Evening Gospel hour service, 7 p.m., Sunday evening.

Police Talk Slated by Men's Club

Captain John P. Meehan, director of personnel for the San Francisco Police department, will be the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Westlake Catholic Men's club on Tuesday evening, in Our Lady of Mercy Parish hall.

A veteran of 35 years service on the San Francisco police force, Captain Meehan will discuss the new responsibilities of police in a present day community. Captain Meehan is the father of Jack Meehan, a member of the Men's club.

Special membership awards will again be presented at the meeting, according to club president, Dick Hoedt. These will include tickets to major sport and entertainment attractions.

Hoedt issued a special invitation to all men in the parish interested in becoming active members of the club to attend the meeting which will convene at 8:15 p.m.

Over 120 members registered at the opening meeting last month, Barry Churton, membership chairman, reported. Members will continue to be enrolled at the October 1 meeting, he said.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA AND PACIFICA

Picture Day Theme Set At Seacliff

"Get into the Picture," is the theme chosen for rally day and promotion of the Sunday school children at Seacliff Community church at 50 Northridge drive, Daly City at 9:45 a.m.

Each child attending Sunday school in September will get his picture taken and will be able to compete for prizes which will be awarded for Sunday school attendance, church attendance, and for bringing visitors.

It will also be homecoming Sunday for out of town members of the church. A dinner is being planned at 1 o'clock for members and friends.

An opportunity to get family group pictures taken for the church director will be a special feature of the day.

Mrs. Del Dilbeck and Mrs. Frank Toft, co-chairmen of the events, have named the following committee chairmen; Kurt Poehleman, rally day and promotion; Betty Disque, publicity; and Mrs. Merle Rosemeyer, homecoming.

POWER MOWER TAKEN

Clarence E. Toler of 201 Parkview avenue, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that thieves had pried open his garage door and stolen a mobile battery charger and a power mower. He said the items were valued at a total of $279.

Broadmoor Picks Memorial Organ

The Margaret Pauline Brown Memorial organ has been purchased for the Broadmoor Presbyterian church, and will be installed about December 1, it was announced by Rod Barnes, chairman of the organ fund committee of the local church.

An Allen TC-3 was the selection of the committee, who have been visiting church organ installations and organ salesrooms in the Bay Area since early in June. The committee chose the particular model as most closely approaching the ideal instrument for the size of the sanctuary and the money to be raised.

About 85 per cent of the $10,000 goal has already been contributed or pledged since June 1.

The organ is named in honor of the late Margaret Pauline Brown, long-time Colma resident, civic leader, teacher, and churchwoman. Mrs. Brown was an active member of Broadmoor Presbyterian church until her death in 1958. A legacy of $1,000 was left to the church by her, and is being used in the organ fund.

A dedication concert will be held shortly after the installation in December, to introduce the organ to the congregation and the interested public. A completely new system of sound is a feature of the Allen organ. There will be antiphonal speakers in the rear of the sanctuary, as well as a 360-degree speaker system in the church's bell tower, for outside carillon music.

It is an electronic organ, completely transistorized, and most nearly approximating the pipe organ sound traditional in church music. There is an optional "chiff" sound, which permits 17th century Baroque music to be played as written. The chiff was an imperfection in earlier pipe organ sounds of the time, but became popular in itself.

Barnes paid tribute to the organ-seeking committee, which included Charlotte Spruiell, Kay and Carlos Mattson, Lillian McLeod, Ken and Bunny Gillespie, Dorothy Spratt, Shirley Pappas, and Delmar Severy.

The Rev. Herbert Tweedie, minister at Broadmoor Presbyterian church said, "The new organ will add increased depth to our worship services. Our old machine is just about done, and the beauty and flexibility of this organ will permit musical worship to a degree we've never experienced here."

Twin worship services are held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. at the Eighty-seventh street church. Rev. Tweedie will speak Sunday on the subject, "Will You Walk on Water . . . Will You Dare to be a Christian?" Sunday school for all ages runs concurrently with both services, with nursery care for infants provided

Westmoor Whirl

By SHEILA STAVISH

LACK of an underwater basket weaving society appears to be the only deficiency in this year's Westmoor roster of over 20 clubs. Every student from the future nurse to the chess champion will find an organization that appeals to his interests.

An excursion to Fisherman's' Wharf is planned for October 12, by members of the German club. Dining in the nautical atmosphere of the "Captain's Galley" will be a number of students and adviser, Frau Cecila Hinz.

While their peers are sampling German cuisine, Westmoor's Junior Statesmen, accompanied by history teacher Alvin Wolf, will attend a regional conference at Mills High school in Millbrae. After resoving controversial issues through debate and mock legislation, the eloquent young politicians will be guests for an informal dinner and dance.

CHOSEN from the Future Teachers club to practice their intended propersions were Linda Long, Jill Carson, and Michael Lynch. The three seniors spend an hour each day in supervised student-teaching at Vista Mar Elementary school.

Last semester's report cards in hand, sophomores, juniors, and seniors applied for membership in the California Scholarship federation. A field trip to Berkeley for a tour of the University of California campus is planned for mid-October.

Hoping to insure a pleasant year for Westmoor's 12 foreign students, three of whom speak no English, members of the American Field Service are making a special effort to show them hospitality and friendliness. Swedish exchange student, Helena Frisell, was sponsored by the A.F.S. through funds raised by hard-working Westmoorites

FEAR of mistreading has made physical education teachers and their classes a bit wary of venturing outside; it seems that dogs whose masters insist on Westmoor for a daily outing are leaving more than paw prints on the law.

Ambivalent feelings are expressed by P. C. tennis participants; it's a long trek to the courts on Mariposa avenue.

Tumultuous cheers emitting from the site of the first day assembly were induced by the earth-shaking announcement that passing time between classes had been extended from five to six minutes. Tardy-troubled westmoorites may have found this to be of no avail, however. It has become quite a feat to navigate the crowded halls without becoming entangled in dropped books, opened lockers, and other students' feet.

Lutherans Set Awareness Meet

In an endeavor to promote closer cooperation between the home and church, Hope Lutheran Sunday school will have a Parent Awareness program at 2 p.m., Sunday, Pastor Arnim H. Polster has announced.

The program will be presented at Hope Lutheran church, 55 San Fernando way, Daly City.

Featured in the program will be a discussion by Mrs. Walter Cotter and Armand Giese. Refreshments will be served following the program. Parents will be afforded an opportunity to meet their children's new teachers.

ON DEFENSE TOUR

Pacificans See Nike Zeus Test

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles on a tour of air defense facilities in three states, taken by Connie Mason and Mrs. Fred Ballew Jr. of Pacifica and eight other Bay area women. Mrs. Mason, the author of these articles, is the wife of Pacifica Councilman George Mason.)

By CONNIE MASON

ON THE evening of the second day of our trip, we were the guests of Gen. and Mrs. Tom Stayton at a reception at the Fort Bliss (Tex.) Officers' club along with an "Operation Understanding" group of gentlemen from Albany, Ga.

("Operation Understanding" was the designation for the tour.)

Since Marian Ballew and myself are active in the Pacifica Federated Women's club (Marian is president), the president of the El Paso Women's club was invited to the reception, and had accompanied us all day on our tour. It was nice exchanging club ideas with someone so far from home.

General Stayton presented each of us with the distinguished degree of Powder Puff Ooxlefinchling, which declares:

"She has been exposed to fleeting fragments of erudition in the abstruse and lofty field of guided missiles. She has endured the persistent sun, wind, and sand of the fabulous southwest without losing direction or suffering cerebral fatigue.

"She has outlived the maliciousness of predatory females, has survived frustration, and has admirably retained her feminine composure and mental stability.

"She has earned the right to fly backward with platonic detachment and to wear earplugs and blinders when in the presence of the male sex."

THURSDAY morning after breakfast, we traveled by bus, along with the delegation from Georgia, from Fort Bliss to White Sands Missile range, N.M. —the largest all-land rocket and missile testing station in the United States.

The range, 100 miles long and 40 miles wide, allows precision, visibility and recovery for research purposes—an advantage missing in a testing range at sea.

The total value of test resources at White Sands, including Army, Navy and Air force, is $290 million.

Our guide at White Sands, Lieutenant Spitz, was quite excited when he met us, informed us that we were one of the few "understanding" groups fortunate enough to see the final stages of a research firing of Nike Zeus.

The Zeus has been developed to defend the United States from attack by enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles, air and submarine launched missiles, and lesser threats.

It is the only such defense system in advanced development anywhere in the free world.

The Zeus is designed to locate and destroy incoming enemy warheads that may be no larger than basketballs — that approach a defended area from any direction at speeds many times faster than rifle bullets.

Radar of unprecedented range and accuracy will be used to locate the attacking ballistic missiles and obtain precise information required to guide the Zeus "killer" missile to points of intercept either inside or outside the earth's atmosphere.

In addition, the Zeus system must be able to select its target from decoys that might be launched to lure defensive efforts away from an oncoming warhead.

The Zeus, which is 79 feet long (about as tall as a 10-story building) is controlled by an electronic brain on the ground, which will fire it at the right instant and tell it where to go.

All components which "think" for it operate automatically and in unison.

AFTER THE spectacular firing, we toured the Zeus facilities, including the test firing point (the silo), the Zeus acquisition radar transmitter and receiver and the control room.

At White Sands, there is a Mercury tracking station to track space capsules, and we saw drawings of the Appollo missile, which will put men on the moon in the near future.

Following a visit to the missile garden, where all missiles are on display, including the German V-2 that was so deadly during World war II, we traveled to Holloman Air Force base where we again boarded our planes and departed for Colorado Springs.

Even the elemtnts combined to give us a good show and we flew between two storms with spectacular flashes of lightning on both sides.

Early Friday morning, we visited the headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), a unified command charged with the overall mission of air defense of the North American continent.

NORAD must guard against manned bomber attack, ballistic missile attack and any space threat. It must watch over the North American continent from treetops to beyond the atmosphere.

NORAD vigilance is in three surveillance systems, all feeding information to the combat operations center in Colorado Springs.

This air defense communication and information network has been compared to a nerve system—stimulation at any point creates awareness and triggers responses throughout the system.

The stimulus might be radar data, directions to interceptors and missile units or cross-and forward-telling of information. Horns sound in ready rooms, missiles rise to firing position and the entire situation in condensed form appears on the display board in the command post.

So complex is this system that the board even keeps track of debris in space.

GENERAL William W. Dick Jr., commanding general, U.S. Army Air Defense command, appointed each of us an ambassador of Air Defense and presented us with a certificate stating that "special trust and confidence in the patriotism, valor, fidelity and abilities" make this appointment possible.

The afternoon was spent touring the United States Air Force academy, the Garden of the Gods and a trip to the top of Pike's Peak for those who wished to go.

Saturday morning early, we again boarded our trusty planes for the return trip to Hamilton Air Force base and a return to the chores of a mother and homemaker, the making of beds, dishes, cooking, etc.

So ended the most magnificent and informative trip of my life, second only to my trip to the altar.

Supervisors End Road Bond Probe

County supervisors, unaware that the county grand jury disapproved, closed the book on their road bond investigation last week.

The board acted on two grand jury recommendations — that public funds improperly spent on the bond promotion be repaid, and that the county employe responsible for it be "disciplined."

The first was taken care of by accepting $281 as payment in full of the misspent funds. The second was disposed of by drawing assurances from County Manager E. R. Stallings and County Engineer Don S. Wilson that it will not happen again.

But, when they acted, one supervisor apparently did not know that the grand jury felt that $281 was not enough. Robert Higgins, the jury foreman, said he felt the total was much more than that and added that the grand jury will continue to investigate.

The grand jury investigation had been requested by the board before the election, in which the $35 million bond issue was beaten badly. A number of accusations had been made in the official arguments against the bonds, written by Nancy Jewell Cross, a perennial bond critic.

The jury reported that none of Miss Cross' charges, except the one concerning misuse of public funds, were true.

The one thing wrong was found to have been the employment by Wilson of a temporary secretary to help on the highway bond program. The jury found that most of her work was legitimate, but that she did a certain amount of work for the private citizens' committee that was promoting the bond issue.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorensen said the $281 would more than cover the loss. The board accepted the citizens' committee offer of that amount to settle the matter.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald read this statement at the meeting last week.

"In furtherance of the special committee report of the grand jury and discussions between the board of supervisors and members of the committee relative to activities of the office set up to furnish public information on the city-county highway program, we should be assured by the county manager and the county engineer that in the future such activities would be conducted with strict propriety.

"While the value of the services and supplies erróneously utilized for the bond issue promotion is small, it does point up the necessity for very close follow-up in the future to assure strict compliance with legal provisions. We are pleased that the district attorney has obtained agreement for reimbursement from the citizens' committee for the time and material not properly expended."

Suit Filed Over Coast Rain Woes

Laguna Salada Union school district of Pacifica has filed a $16,000 damage suit against the North Coast county Water district in Superior court, charging that rain raised havoc on the Cabrillo school site last October because of faulty water district line planning and excavating.

The suit also named contractors E. T. Haas company and C. W. Stevens and three John Does as defendants, asking that exact liability for what be determined at the trial.

The heavy rains last October lumped an overload of water, sand, mud and silt along the lines of excavation, this running down to the lower levels of the new school site on Crespi boulevard in Linda Mar, the complaint alleges.

This, it went on, caused severe damage to surfaced playgrounds, building foundations and landscaping.

Damage claims by the school district were denied by the water district on November 2 and December 13, 1962. District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson is acting as school district attorney.

The suit says that planning for the laying and covering of the pipe was done negligently, as was the actual work.

Jeff to Begin NPL Card With Heavy Squad

He'll Throw . . .

Six Indian Lettermen To Aid Club's Hopes

By RON BATES

ONE FACT seems certain in this season's North Peninsula league football wars, the Jefferson Indians will be throwing a lot of weight—both physically and literally.

Indian mentor Joe McGrath will begin his 17th year as Jefferson coach with one of the heaviest teams he has ever fielded. The weight, fortunately for Jeff, is scattered in some of the key spots on both offense and defense.

Eleven men from last year's team will return to aid the Indian cause. Six of the 11 are letter winners and three are first stringers.

Notable among the veterans is all-league candidate Leo Gotelli, a halfback who averaged a little over eight yards per carry last season for the Indians.

"If he plays as well as he did last year," McGrath said," he should make it."

Another bright prospect in the Indian backfield is returning quarterback Don Fisacaro who will be working behind a heavy line.

Fisacaro stepped into the starting quarterback role last year when Larry Ahuna hurt his thumb. Ahuna's running ability was used at the fullback slot with Fisacaro calling the shots for the last three games.

Fisacaro led the Indians to an upset win over South San Francisco 26-20 in the final game of the season.

"He is a good passer and handles the ball quite well," McGrath said.

The coach feels Fisacaro may give Westmoor's Bruce Hix a "run for his money" for all-league honors at quarterback.

The third starter coming back is halfback Ed Nathan who injured his knee in an auto accident last fall. McGrath is watching him closely to see if the knee is sound enough for football. The injury has definitely hampered Nathan's running ability, he said.

If Fisacaro has time to throw, he will have two prime targets in Gotelli and veteran end Ed Larios.

"Larios is probably our best receiver," the coach said. "He is also a good pass defender."

THE INDIANS may have deep strength in the fullback slot with three heavy fullbacks to pound through opposing lines.

Senior letterman Jim Letcavage, junior Ray Durham and sophomore Dennis Al Namanny are all heavyweights who can carry the ball.

Namanny, lightweight of the three at 180 pounds, was the first string fullback for the frosh-soph team last year. The other two fullbacks are 200 pounds plus. McGrath said one of them may be switched to halfback.

Fisacaro will be backed up at quarterback by Rich soph's signal-caller last Quadra who was the frosh-season.

While McGrath is depending on Gotelli to handle the bulk of the halfback chores, he expects help from Wayne White (who may be switched from end) Renzo Marcolongo and Neil Andrews.

The Jefferson coach thought at the beginning of the season when 45 turned out for the varsity that he would be loaded in backfield talent with two sets of quick backs. But Nathan's knee and an injury to prime prospect Jesse Bulato, a track star, have changed the picture.

THE INDIANS will field a good passing team with Larios, Gotelli and White on the receiving end of Fisacaro's passes.

"Running against the second team, the first team does real well," McGrath said, "but then you don't play second teams."

McGrath said although he likes a passing game, he will also have a good running team to field a good balanced offense.

"It will depend on the competition," he said.

He said one year one of his teams broke almost every record in the league but managed to win only one eq game.

"Even with a passer, you need a good running game or you can't win."

On the line, McGrath will have letterman Al Banfield returning. McGrath has tabbed Banfield to replace all-league center Daryl Crist for the anchor man on defense at the middle linebacker spot.

"We'll be able to throw in a heavy line," the coach said. "But we have no experienced defensive personnel. It will depend on how fast they can learn."

At the tackle slots are Gary Ciolano and Steve Farras, backed up by Jim Crane and Vic Ojakian. The prime candidates at guard are Mike Gutierrez and Frank Swan with Mike Garcia and Joe Valencia vying for starting roles.

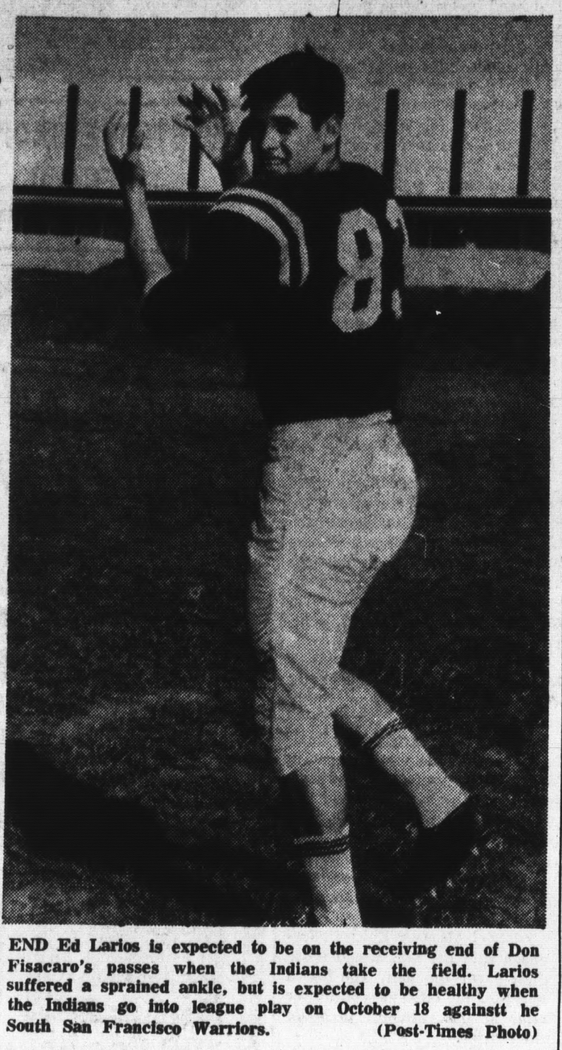
If White is moved to the backfield, Paul Howe would move into the right end slot. Behind Larios on the left end is Ron Sawyer.

McGrath will be assisted this year in coaching by former San Francisco state star Bob Lualhati, who was strongly considered for the college's hall of fame in track and football. Also helping will be Gary Lehy.

Sizing up the rest of the league, the dean of the NPL coaches picks Westmoor to be the toughest because the Rams have goood personnel backs.

"I'm an optimist, though," McGrath added. "I believe in winning."

. . And He'll Catch



END Ed Larios is expected to be on the receiving end of Don Fisacaro's passes when the Indians take the field. Larios suffered a sprained ankle, but is expected to be healthy when the Indians go into league play on October 18 againstt he South San Francisco Warriors. (Post-Times Photo)

Bulldogs Open Season With a 34-32 Thriller

College of San Mateo's Cliff Giffin bowed into the junior college ranks as head coach with a victory, but the veteran of many football wars is hoping that future Bulldogs wins will come with a different pattern. The firing arm of freshman quarterback Chuck Hunt handed a 34-32 victory over San Joaquin Delta college to the new CSM boss Saturday night at South San Francisco, when the former all-SPAL star from Carlmont High school connected on a 41-yard pass to end Bill Poulos with 34 seconds remaining on the clock.

The victory was a big one for the Bulldogs as they prepare this week for Friday night's southland invasion against Pasadena City college in the Rose Bowl.

The sparkling running and passing of Hunt (182 net yards) and the three touchdowns of Greg O'Neill led CSM to their fifth straight victory over the Mustangs (former Stockton college) in the 20th renewal of the battle for the Golden Horseshoe.

San Mateo demonstrated that it has the offensive horses to move the football, gaining a net of 464 yards, but the defense looks to be an early season problem. The Bulldogs yielded 333 yards to the valley eleven, mostly on long gainers by Mike Evans.

Evans was a one-man show for the Mustangs as he tallied four touchdowns—three on turns of 31, 13 and one-yards, and the other on an 87-yard pass from Mike Noack.

O'Neill, a Serra product, got CSM off to a 12-6 halftime lead on a 10-yard pass from Gene Scattin iand a three-yard run.

The third quarter was wide open with both teams scoring twice. The Stockton school scored first at 11:50 on a one-yard run by Evans to gain a 13-12 lead. San Mateo bounced right on back O'Neill's 32-yard dash to gain the lead.

SJDC came to within one-point on Evans' 87-yard sprint with a Noack pass, but Mike Mills' four-yard scamper moved the Bulldogs out to a 28-19 advantage.

Evans tallied again with 11 minutes to play in the game on a 13-yard run, and then again on a 31-yard run with 6:10 remaining to give the Mustangs a 32-28 deal.

Then came Hunt's turn to move the Bulldogs. After the CSM defense held the Tangs on the CSM 28, Hunt, almost single handed, took control of the club.

He produced advances of 11 and eight-yards on the ground and then hit Foulos for eight-yards in the air.

This set the scene for the 41-yarder to the former San Mateo High end, who took the ball on the 25 and mowed down defender Eddie Smith on his way to the end zone.

Terra Nova Is Blanked By Oakand

Terra Nova's sophomore footballers hosted opposing Oakland Tech Friday and suffered a 26-0 defeat.

The start of the game was delayed 50 minutes as the Oaklanders were confronted with a roadblock on Cabrillo highway. Th gallant Tigers, short on experience but long on moxy may have wished that the visitors were delayed longer. Permanently, perhaps.

Oakland's first touchdown arrived within six minutes wehn quarterback Wayne Brooks nailed all-City ead Fraok Trideete with a 24-yard pass.

The Tech men huffed and puffed up and down the field the remainder of the half, and with a combination of ill fortune—a holding penalty rcealling one touchdown—and stout defense by the Tigers, maittained the half-time margin of 7-0.

The Tiger defense, pressued heavily, yielded after the intermission.

Fullback John McGaffee rocketed through tackle, cut to the side lines and swept from the grasp of almost each yellow shirt to dazzle the spectators with a 48-yard touchdown bomb.

Oakland scored again on a 61-yard drive with Brooke wedging over from the one-yard line. The final points came with six minutes to go, when Les Edwards, unstoppable all afternoon, crashed over tackle from six yards out.

Oakland finished last in their league in 1962, but try to tell that to the Tigers.

Edwards and McGaffee both surpassed the 100 yard mark from scrimmage, and the Tech line kept Terra Nova on its side of the field all afternoon.

Sarto Wins Club Title

Joseph Sarto Jr., of Daly City won the annual championship of the Peninsula Golf and Country club Sunday, defeating Robert Gibson, 7 and 6.

Sarto is the son of Joseph Sarto Sr., owner of the Villa sanitarium in Daly City.

The son was two over par for the entire 36-hole distance as he beat a field that included off-time champion Robert Ladley. Defending champion Dave Bohannon Jr. and Bobby Roos did not compete.

By DON MILLER

THIS MORNING we have a Daly City woman who should be awarded some sort of adventurer's medal or a citation for staunch individualism or a trophy for gumption of the highest order.

She's Mrs. Irene Dunaway, a bubbling, personality-plus lover of life who has just returned from an epic 10,500 mile round trip to Boston.

Now, you ask, just what makes a 10,500 mile jaunt an epic?

A trailer! A house trailer that Mrs. Dunaway expertly pulled behind her auto through mountains and deserts and across a continent after having started with zero trailering experience.

This intrepid traveler sat down the other day in her pleasant apartment at 20 Forest Grove drive and told us about her unusual adventure—unusual because she is most likely the only woman to ever drive alone so far with a trailer.

Mrs. Dunway readily confesses she was bitten by the wanderlust bug a long time ago and that traveling has been one of the great joys of her life.

A retired businesswoman who now devotes most of her seemingly bottomless well of energy to Christian Science, Mrs. Dunaway strikes you as a person who not only could drive to Boston and back without much fuss but probably could have continued beyond the East coast in a solo-sailing venture aimed at England.

The idea for going into trailering materialized while Mrs. Dunaway was in Southern California a while back. She stayed in motels as she traveled and concluded each time she plunked down $9 or so for a room that traveling was getting expensive.

"Why not a trailer—a house trailer of modest proportions that could become a motel on wheels," she mused.

After continuing to mull this idea over in the weeks to follow, Mrs. Dunaway finally decided it was the answer to traveling expenses. And so she bought a trailer.

THAT WAS the beginning of the fun—and the worries. For Mrs. Dunaway thought all you had to do when you wanted to drag a house trailer across the country was fill it up with provisions and leave.

Well, she did just that. But as soon as she started down the road from the trailer dealership, she discovered the trailer was blocking her rear view mirror. Further, motorists behind her couldn't see the signal lights of her auto.

These two difficulties—major ones for they prevented safe traveling—caused nearly a day's delay until they were remedied.

In fact, rather than leave the loaded trailer parked overnight in a Westlake gas station, she slept aboard—just a few blocks from her apartment.

As you might expect, a trip of this kind mined hundreds of anecdotes for Mrs. Dunaway's memory storehouse.

Perhaps the most ludicrous, at least from her standpoint, was an overnight stay at a trailer camp in Vancouver. (Mrs. Dunaway's itinerary took her across Canada and back much the same way.)

About 4:30 a.m. she left the trailer to go to the camp rest room and in so doing, carefully closed the trailer door behind her. When she returned, she found she had locked herself out.

"Everything was dead still. I didn't want to wake anyone so I headed out toward the main highway, looking for a phone. As I was standing there, two policemen in a patrol car came by and asked me what I was doing out there dressed like that at that hour?

"I told them God must have sent them. When they asked why, I explained my predicament."

The two officers, who, in Mrs. Dunaway's words, behaved like "true gentlemen," then proceeded to pick the lock on her trailer and the Vancouver embarrassment came to a happy close.

THROUGHOUT her trip, Mrs. Dunaway recalls, there was always someone to give her a helping hand when she needed one badly.

Driving through the Rocky mountains, she heard a bang, bang, bang, under the hood of her car and quickly pulled to the side of the road. She hailed a passing auto, driven by a young couple, and told them her auto had begun to sound like "a boiler factory."

The youth asked her to take the wheel of his car and he began to drive Mrs. Dunaway's auto. A short distance down the highway he stopped, Mrs. Dunaway stopped and the youth informed her that the speedometer cable on her car had broken. He disconnected it and she was able to continue her trip.

Another time after leaving Winnipeg on the Trans-Canada highway, she pulled to the side of the road when she felt sleepy. As she did so, both the auto and the trailer began to slide on the soft shoulder and became stuck.

Efforts to move only increased a sideways movement toward a ditch. So, she hailed a passing car on this lonely stretch of road and the driver turned out to be a highway worker who was familiar with the shoulders along the road.

He also had a length of chain in his trunk and in short order Mrs. Dunaway's trailer trip was on its way again. "That was like a miracle. My little guardian angel was at work again," she said.

ONE OF the highpoints — or lowpoints of the trip befell her in Boston when she lost her car—couldn't find it—and had to spend the night in an expensive downtown hotel rather than in her trailer court.

She had left the car in a subway commuter parking lot, been told the wrong name of the lot by the attendant. That evening she returned to the wrong lot and wandered around for three hours in a vain search for the auto.

The police found it overnight.

The response of people to seeing a woman pulling a trailer alone, she says, was summed up by one old, crusty bystander in a Canadian town.

Mrs. Dunaway was having difficulty driving up a gravel road from a trailer parking place and after getting help in adjusting the load levelers on the car to permit better traction, she reached the top of the grade.

The old gentleman, who the day before had warned her against descending the road, watched the whole operation. When Mrs. Dunaway reached the top, the man drawled:

"Are you traveling alone?" When she replied she was, the gentleman replied: "Oh God save the queen.

"And that," Mrs. Dunaway says, "seemed to sum up the general reaction."

TRAVELER—Mrs. Irene Dunaway holds a map she consulted often during her epic 10,700 mile trailer trip across the continent to Boston and back. She says that one of the most heartwarming aspects of the trip was the friendliness shown her by people along the way. (Post-Times Photo)

Mary's Help Drive Pushed

The Pacifica Federated Women's club will organize the residential section of the Mary's Help Hospital building fund drive1 club President Marian Ballew announced this week. Members voted unanimously to make the hospital campaign their major fund-raising effort of the year.

Pacificans last week set $75,000, or approximately $10 per home, as their goal for the Mary's Help drive. In a massive one-day canvass Thursday, October 10, all homes and businesses throughout the city will be solicited.

Mrs. William Drake of the hospital campaign committee announced these appointments for the business solicitation: Al Rosenberg and Larry Kennedy for Linda Mar merchants; Mrs. Harland Minshew, Eureka Square Shopping center; Kenneth Strom, Postmaster Willaim Wolfe and Robert Fizer, Sharp Park business area; and Mrs. Drake and Janette Howell, Pacific Manor Shopping center.

Laguna Plans Staff Changes

Major revisions in the district's various teaching programs as the new school year begins were reviewed for trustees of the Laguna Salada elementary school district by superintendent of schools Frederick E. Lucas.

During the coming year, Lucas said, an attempt will be made in all instructional areas to relate studies more to the community, both geographically and in human terms.

He said the social studies program of the district is giving a greater emphasis on the nation's historical heritage to implement a state framework for social studies teaching.

A "resource opportunity teacher" will be provided at each school for a comprehensive program to help "underachievers."

The program, which had its beginnings four years ago in the district, will allow more personal attention to students who have not reached their grade levels because of various reasons, including the emotionally upset.

During the coming year, Lucas reported, the district will continue to build up its library program, and an effort will be made to improve the health and fitness program.

Two teachers, Tom Collins and Miss Barbara Streeter who attended National Defense act sponsored foreign language programs at Louisiana State university and Pomona college during the summer, reported on implementation of a foreign language program within the district.

Lucas reported that it appears enrollment throughout the entire district will reach 7000 students during the year, compared to an enrollment of about 6300 last year. He added 67 new teachers started classes this year.

The board authorized the sale of $285,000 worth of bonds to bring the district up to its bonded capacity and thus qualify it for additional state aid.

Mr. Leroy Fleenor, 1040 Norton Street, San Mateo, Calif., says: "Action started as soon as paper hit the street. Everything sold almost at once. Young couple from Fiji Islands were first to look at the furniture, were delighed with 'the deal' and went to get check cashed. Almost immediately after they had left another buyer came with cash in hand. When the young couple had not returned after two hours, the second buyer insisted that the things should be sold to him."

Mr. Fleenor was delighted that he had sold everything, but was terribly sorry to disappoint the young people and wished he could get them another deal like his.

WORLD OF FLAVOR in old world buns. Brighten your kitchen reputation with these cherry specials.

Hospitality in Old World Buns

Fresh baked buns can create a feeling of warmth and hospitality for family and guests alike. This versatile recipe for Old World Cherry Buns serves all occasions — breakfast, lunch or dinner — plus those extra special events when good friends call. Brighten your kitchen reputation with these old world cherry buns ... made from unbleached flour for better flavor, grain and texture.

OLD WORLD CHERRY BUNS

1 No. 1 can tart red cherries
1-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons unbleached flour
1 tablespoon butter
Few drops red food coloring
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 cup milk, scalded
½ cup shortening
1-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
4 to 4½ cups sifted unbleached flour

Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine sugar and flour. Add cherries and cook until thick. Add butter and food coloring. Cool and reserve.

Soften yeast in warm water. Add hot milk to shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1½ cups of the flour. Add softened yeast and egg; beat well. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Knead on lightly floured surface until smooth, about 5 minutes. Place in a greased bowl; cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 to 1½ hours. Punch down; cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough to slightly less than ½-inch thick. Cut with a 2½-inch cutter. Place 2-inches apart on a lightly greased baking sheet. Cover and let rise until light, about 45 minutes. With fingers, press down center of buns; spoon in cherry filling. Bake at 750 degrees about 15 minutes or until done.

Yield: about 1½ dozen buns.

Begin Day With A Good Breakfast

"The better the breakfast, the better the day." Eating a good breakfast is one way of fortifying oneself for the stress and strain of the day ahead, nutrition experts tell us.

But tempting that early morning appetite is often a problem. We need something to spark the breakfast menu, something worth getting up for.

The spicy aroma of sausage is one of the most potent invitations to breakfast, a home economist, reminds us. She has a suggestion for a tasty combination of sausage with the breakfast fruit —in this case, pineapple.

SAUSAGE AND PINEAPPLE

1 pound country-style or sausage links
2 tablespoons water
6 slices pineapple

Cut country-style sausage in two-inch lengths, or use link sausage. Place sausage in frying pan. Add water, cover and simmer 5 to 8 minutes. Remove cover and allow water to evaporate and sausage to brown. Remove sausage, and brown pineapple slices in droppings. Serve sausage over pineapple.

Another way to combine sausage and pineapple is this one, using crushed pineapple. After the cooked sausage has been removed to a hot platter, leave two tablespoons of the sausage fat in the pan. Add 2 tablespoons of flour and brown. Then add 1½ cups crushed pineapple and stir until it is heated. Pour the pineapple mixture over triangles of toast and place sausage on top.

Fruit, Cheese Partners in This Salad

Fruit and cheese go together like Hollywood and movies, New York and skycrapers and Paris and Springtime. These natural partners are especially delicious in "Stuffed Peach Salad." Each serving of two golden canned cling peach halves placed together is filled with a mixture of cottage and cream cheese, grated orange rind and chopped maraschino cherries. If you prefer, omit salad greens and instead of a salad you'll have a perky dessert. That's one of the virtues of versatile canned clings—they begin or wind up almost any meal with equal ease and with eating satisfaction to spare.

Stuffed Peach Salad

1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach halves
Salad greens

Soften cream cheese with a fork. Blend in cottage cheese, orange ring and cherries. Drain peaches thoroughly. For each salad, put two halves together with generous amount of cheese between them. Serve on crisp salad greens, plain or with French dressing. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Snacks Find Favor with Nutritionists

Three meals a day and no eating between meals" was formerly considered the best rule for obtaining a nutritious diet. But there has been a changed attitude in recent years toward those between-meal snacks as food experts have discovered that in many cases they can supply a valuable part of the day's food intake.

Some children do not eat heartily at mealtime, and can use additional nourishment at mid-morning or after school. Teen-agers, boys and girls, require an extra snack for energy and growth.

It may come as a surprise to many to learn that low calorie snacks can be eaten by those on reducing diets. Of course these between meal tidbits must not add to the total daily calorie allowance but should be a part of the daily food intake. Some dieters find that by eating small amounts frequently, dieting can be less irksome. There may be less hunger and less temptation too overeat at meal times.

Meat snacks can be low in calories but high in protein. The meat also includes important B vitamins and iron.

Sliced cold meats are good for snacks, as a home economist, points out. For instance, slices of cooked ham made into cornucopias filled with cottage cheese are tasty and nutritious. Slices of smoked tongue may be rolled around carrot strips, sliced cooked beef may be spread with horseradish or prepared mustard and made into rolls. Combinations of cooked lean meats and low calorie vegetables are always a good choice.

EASY MENU PLANNING

When planning any meal, first decide on the meat course. Starchy food, such as potatoes or rice, and green or yellow vegetables, cooked or in salad, may then be chosen to complete the well-balanced menu.

Intriguing Dish Delightful, Fresh

Bacon Sour Cream Casserole is just the delightfully fresh and intriguing main meal meat dish to give a seasonal touch to your menu. The unusual combination of flavors will have the taste detectives in your family investigating the subtle seasonings that make this casserole to their liking.

Bacon has always been an American flavor favorite, and consumers are finding bacon in the new vacuum-sealed package more delectable than ever. A recently perfected process permits packaging in airtight saran film within seconds after the bacon is sliced. For the first time, the elusive smokehouse flavor is locked in and preserved until ready for use.

There's a delicate combination of cheese, mushrooms, macaroni, and seasonings in this elegant caserolle. An extra bonus feature is the ease and quickness of preparation, and while the casserole is in the oven, there's plenty of time to make a tossed salad with Italian dressing, heat up the rolls, and cook a frozen vegetable. Plan dessert with spring fruits in mind — a rhubarb crisp or strawberry meringue.

BACON SOUR CREAM CASSEROLE

½ lb. sliced bacon
1 can (2oz.) mushroom stems and pieces
1 cup macaroni, cooked
1 cup grated American cheese
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper.
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon onion salt
1-16 teaspoon pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cook bacon over low heat until crisp. Drain and crumble. Combine all ingredients. Place in 1½ quart casserole. Bake for 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Try Bread Of Orange Marmalade

Whether it is the younger generation or the man-of-the-house who belong to the lunchbox and-or snack brigade, they'll react favorably and with alacrity to this Orange Marmalade Bread. Made with convenient, always dependable evaporated milk, this luscious nut-filled bread maintains its agreeable moistness; is easy to slice even for the thinnest little tea sandwiches. When carefully wrapped, this bread freezes beautifully either in the loaf or as sandwiches. Softened cream cheese or a combination of cream cheese and honey is especially good with this.

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup chopped walnuts or pecans
1 egg
1 cup orange marmalade
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon melted butter or salad oil

Sift flour with baking powder, salt and soda into a medium-size mixing bowl. Stir in nuts. Make a well in center. Beat egg slightly in a small mixing bowl. Blend-in marmalade. Stir lemon juice into evaporated milk; then blend into egg mixture; stir in melted butter. Pour "evap" mixture into dry ingredients, mixing only until flour is dampened. (Batter will be lumpy.) Turn into well greased loaf pan 8½ x 4½ x 2¾ inches.

Bake in preheated moderate, 350 degree, oven 45 minutes (or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean). Let cool in pan 5 minutes; turn out on rack to cool. When cold, wrap loaf airtight in transparent wrap or aluminum foil.

Note: For extra easy slicing, let loaf "ripen" overnight in the refrigerator.

Easy Meal Features Liver, Rice

Bright spring days find the youngsters outdoors working up keen appetites just at the time when Mother, indoors, is deep in housecleaning with less than usual time for cooking. Sand-lot and sand box stars need fuel for energy, and Mom needs something quick and easy to "fill 'em up."

A home economist, offers a good solution for this seasonal dilemma. It is a casserole of liver, rice and vegetables, almost a meal in itself. It is very nutritious for liver is a fine source of iron, which helps build good, red blood.

This hearty dish need not take long to prepare. The rice is cooked ahead of time. The vegetables—green pepper, celery and onion—can be cut up quickly and the cooking started as the liver is lightly browned in lard or droppings. Then all ingredients, including a can of tomatoes, go into a casserole which is popped into the oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

LIVER AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 pound sliced beef or pork liver, cut in 1-inch squares
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
1 medium onion, diced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese.

Cook liver, green pepper, celery and onion in lard or drippings until liver is very lightly browned and vegetables are tender. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper, thyme and rice. Pour into greased 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle grated cheese over the top and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 20 to 30 minutes. 4 to 5 servings.

THE HAWAIIAN TOUCH

Here's a suggestion for frankfurter and pineapple kabobs, which will make a hit at a party for teen-agers, or any others. Cut frankfurters into thirds. Thread the meat and pineapple chunks on skewers and weave bacon slices in between. Allow 4 frankfurter pieces, 3 pineapple chunks and 1 slice of bacon for each skewer. Place kabobs on broiler rack and broil about 2 inches from heat. Broil until bacon is lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Turn, broil second side until done — about 2 minutes.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Mt. View Caravan Inn Soon to Have Dancing

BETTY SEDAM, general manager of the Mountain View Caravan Inn, has blue printed a new dance floor for the cocktail lounge which will blossom forth about the middle of next month. Tunes will be provided by the Macdonalds, "Patti and Mac."

Betty Sedam

This duo plays the kind of music you can't resist—old tunes and new. Evana, the cute Italian doll who has been a smash during her four-week engagement here. Evana who has held over by popular demand sings well but comes on with a few jokes that are tongue twisters for her and ear ringers for you. Sort of a cross between French and Italian with a few English words added for extra interest.

You will have no excuses for driving by the Caravan Inn after they put up the new 150-foot neon sign—it's super attractive. Caravan Inn restaurant service and banquets still as popular as ever. Open seven days a week.

"THE SHOW MUST GO ON." Long has this idea been traditional among show folks. Now it is being demonstrated again most impressively by Lestra LaMonte, producer of Finocchio's musical revues. After a long stay in the hospital, he is back in his home destined for a long period of convalescence from a serious illness. But the annual fall show at Finocchio's is due soon. Despite all the disadvantages of being kept pretty busy recovering his health, LaMonte is busier than that preparing the new show. Moreover, he is designing and will make the lavish costumes for the production—all of crepe paper—as he did for the current hit, "Paper Creations." Lestra is entitled to warm congratulations for showing a lot of courage as well as loyalty to show business . . . For sheer color, you have to see Pancho's Mexican Cafe in Redwood City. This fine restaurant at Five Points is assembled from bright tiles and splendid fixtures collected by Designer Don Clever from Spain, Mexcico and the U. S.

GINA, the Italian Bombshell who has taken San Fran by storm at the Chez Paree, has her 44" bust insured for $100,000. Wow! Which reminds me of Ray K. Goman's crack at Goman's Gay 90's: "Strippers! All they do is stand around twiddling their tums." . . . The sixth annual Monterey Jazz Festival, last weekend presented an unusual array of international musicians, symbolic of the spread of American jazz music throughout the world. The first American appearance of Hidehiko "Sleepy" Matsumato, Japanese tenor sax and flute virtuoso, took place at the Saturday afternoon concert at Monterey . . . Nomination for one of the busiest restaurant men on the beat has to go to Jay Hurlburt, who is in charge of operations for the Hillsdale Farmers Market International Restaurants (14 in all . . . The United Airlines Management Club guest speaker at their Brentwood Lodge dinner, last week, was Bud Poile, manager of the San Francisco Seals Hockey Club. The "Lodge" is also the "training" site for many 49'ers who partake of the delicious food after the games.

JACK HOLDER'S UNCLE JOHN'S PANCAKE FRANCHISE is expanding fast. Jack "flipped" his first cake at the Millbrae Uncle John's location, then branched out to Palo Alto, Santa Clara, and San Jose. The name "Uncle John's" is now nation-wide—with products and service well known to folks who enjoy the best. . . . Here's a dish that I have missed mentioning and one that well deserves it: Pan fried corned beef hash, with a poached egg. It's one of my breakfast specials at the Royal Lodge restaurant (Sky Deck). Not gourmet-ish, but darn good. . . . Keith Williamson is an expert when it comes to catering (buffet-style). His Burlingame Chicken and Steak House offers one of the most selective menus on the Peninsula. Also a wide variety of seafood—including prawns, Eastern scallops, fish sticks and assorted sea food plate. All menu items are cooked to order. By phoning in your order, food will be ready to travel the minute you arrive. Home cooked pies—which lists my all-time favorite "blueberry." . . .

ENRICO ROMANO, the Pacifica Italian food and pizza champ, is a restaurant gent after my own heart. The other night, at the peek of Luz Garcia's Sinaloa party, Enrico noticed that a little assistance was needed in cutting the five-foot birthday cake (it was Miss Garcia's natal day). Not only did he slice, but served some of the waiting guests. Yes, he carries a union card. . . . Seems everyone knows the leader of the Varsity Boys by the handle of Johnny. One thing for sure: He's "Johnny on the spot" when it comes to pickin' the banjo at Big Al's Gashouse. You banjo fans are in for a foot tappin' good time. So come a-hummin'. . . . Never tire of relaxing in Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake fireplace cocktail lounge while listening to the entertainment and reminiscing with my pal Kelly, the bartender, Enrico Romano whom I've known since he was a door man at the Oakland State Theater. Guess I, too, looked kinda official in my Western Union messenger uniform.

Armando Duval Vocals Beat

Pity the plight of Armando Duval, the Sinaloa master of ceremonies and bongo player: His protege, whom he claims he fed, clothed, and taught the bongo beat, departed for Mexico after "borrowing" Armando's drums.

"He took everything that wasn't nailed to the bandstand," wailed the sad Armando, "and he's my countryman, besides."

Armando is now vocaling his "beats."

After last week's large attendance of movie watchers at the Princeton Inn, Milt Tonini plans to install safety belts on the bar stools.

"This will keep 'em from movin' around when I show my films," said Milt.

Reels will be shown again (under the heading of a late, late show) some Monday evening from 11 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The plush Hyatt House Hotel in Burlingame is a luncheon and dinner favorite for those who want good food — and a unique atmosphere.

You don't have to stay up all night to visit the Tip Top restaurant just because they work on a 24-hour schedule. Whether it's breakfast, luncheon or dinner, you'll always find a special entree tagged on the menu. Congenial place and efficient service.

When it comes to preparing banquets, Maitre d' Walter Suchorski and Chef Fred Eberhardt are a winning combination at the Villa Chartier. They take pride and delight in preparing menus for any occasion.

Eleanor Green, a nurse from St. Francis Hospital, is moving to Denver, so the hospital staff gave her a farewell party at Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery. Phil's Crystal Room was scene of the dinner and gift giving.

New Look Has Arrived at Bit of England

Tom Eakins' has gone all out and way out in his remodeling spree at the Burlingame Bit of England. I'd give a World Series ticket to see the expression of surprise if my old friend and former owner of this club, Craig Porter, ventured through the front door. Tom promises to give you a big "blast" when he's completed the scene. Meanwhile, business is being carried on as usual.

Charles and Anastasia Gust, father and mother of Pacifica Nick, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary at their son's restaurant, last Sunday, and a jolly time was had by all. Sincere congratulations to two wonderful people.

Speaking of celebrations, Pierre Salinger, secretary to the President, was on hand, last week, enjoying Nick's restaurant fare and the singing of Mary Ann Hay, whose "A Good Man Is Hard to Find" rendition had Pierre pounding his palms for more.

With the fall opera season in full swing, Rocca's restaurant is enjoying a large increase in dinner business. The convenience of Rocca's to the San Francisco Opera House makes it a "must" for all opera goers.

My good friend Vince, the Peninsula sea food Midas, has made several treks up Lake Tahoe way lately. Come to think of it, maybe another Vince's Italian and Sea Food Restaurant will fly his colors.

Received some real nice reports on the juicy prime ribs and chicken served at the Vagabond Chuck Wagon at Pedro Point. First call for dinner is at 5 p.m.

Late Night Dance Suggestion

Let's get with this new dance program at the South San Francisco Holiday Inn. Dinner-dancing is one thing, but don't forget you can still enjoy the dancable music of the Frank Borg Trio during the late night cocktail hours (11 p.m. until 1 a.m.)

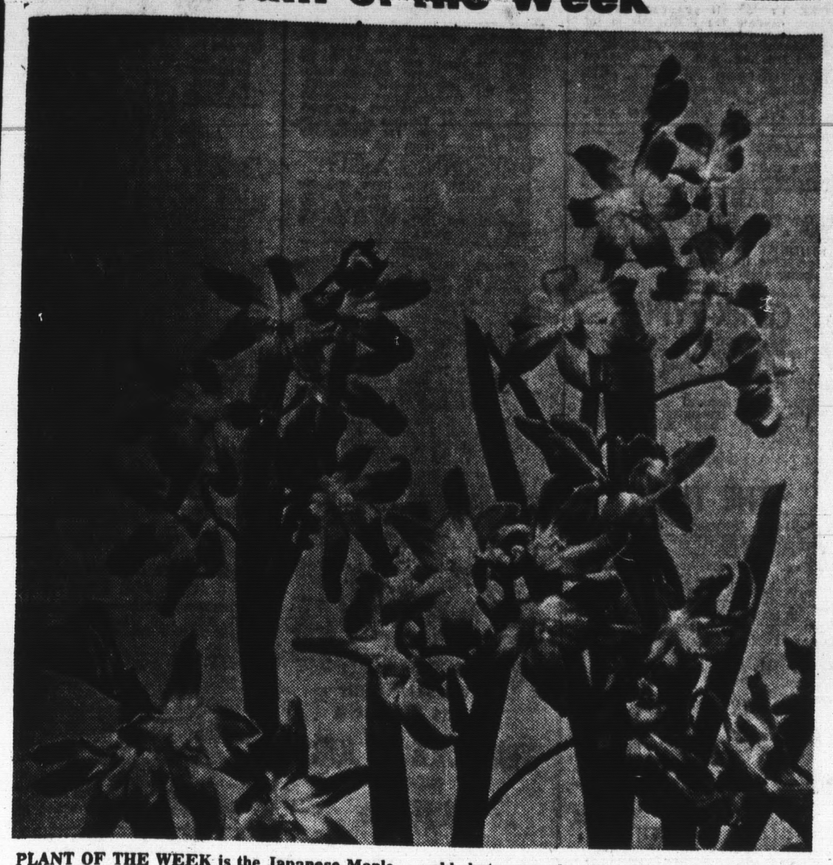
Plant of the Week



PLANT OF THE WEEK is the Japanese Maple, Acer Palmatum Dissectum. Close to 12 years old but scarcely three feet high this dwarf maple has a five foot spread.

Tulips are Ideal Gift For Holiday

One of the most satisfying bouquets for the holidays is a pot of tulips in full bloom. These are even more satisfying if they are home grown.

Growing tulips in containers isn't difficult nor is it costly. All you need is a pot for each five or six bulbs, a good soil mixture, an early start and the best bulbs you can obtain. This last is the most important as bulbs for pot-growing must be both big and healthy. The best pots are those made for azaleas and sold under this name. These are clay pots which are wide at the top and somewhat shallower (in proportion to the diameter) than ordinary standard pots. However, they are deeper than seed pans. Our favorite size is eight inches wide (inside measurement) by seven inches deep (outside measurement). This size pot lets us plant from five to seven bulbs, one in the middle and the others around the edge.

We used to mix our own potting soil using one-third each good garden loam, pulverized peatmoss and sifted compost. To each small wheelbarrow load (about a bushel) we added a two-quart mixture containing one-third fine bone meal and two-thirds dired manure. It worked fine but it took time and cost almost as much as a prepared mix. Now we use a prepared mix of the kind advised for citrus and cymbidiums. Instead of bone meal and manure we use a prepared bulb fertilizer according to the directions on the package.

Use plenty of broken pottery over the hole in the bottom of the pot for good drainage is very essential to all types of bulbs. We put a couple of inches of the prepared soil in the lot, add the bulb fertilizer and stir it around a bit. Then we add more soil until we have enough to hold the bulbs with their tips one inch below the top of the rim. Firm this bottom soil well. Place all the bulbs in the pot allowing from one-half to one inch between bulbs, as they must not touch. Fill in between with soil and firm it down to eliminate air spaces. Use enough soil to bring it level with the bulb tips.

Use Moist Soil

We always use moist soil for potting. It is easier to handle and much easier to water after potting. An easy way to moisten soil is to place the prepared mixtur in a large plastic bag and add water. Do this the evening before and it will be just right for use, the amount of water depends upon the size of the bag and its contents. Once the bulbs are planted set the pot in water and leave until moisture shows on the surface. The bulbs are now ready for their first growth period.

Bulbs, such as tulips, hyacinths, and daffodils must grow a good root system before they can put out good top growth. We bury our pots in a cool shaded place in the garden. We dig the trench about a foot deep, add a layer of sawdust for the pots to sit on then cover the pots sides and top with sawdust.

The appearance of the trailer is in connection with the shopping center's "Win-a-Fone" contest.

Store Chains Sign Racial Hiring Pacts

Two major supermarket chains with stores on the Peninsula have signed agreements to preclude racial discrimination in hiring.

The chains, Lucky and Safeway, signed the agreements with representatives of the Congress for Racial Equality.

CORE noted that both companies had long-standing policies of non-discrimination in hiring. The agreements were designed to bring hiring practices closer into line with policy.

The agreements were actually signed the early part of this month with Bryan Stokes, industrial relations manager of Lucky stores, and Richard A. Hills, public relations manager of Safeway. Public announcement was withheld until midway through the first month-long trial period. The agreement represented CORE chapters in San Jose, mid-Peninsula, San Francisco, Berkeley, Oakland, and Oroville.

Cyclist, 12, Hit by Auto

A 12-year-old San Francisco boy suffered fractures to his right and left hips and compound fractures of his right leg about 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding and an auto collided at Castleton avenue and Pinehaven drive in Daly City.

The boy, Robert Maffie, was taken to Peninsula hospital. Police identified the driver of the car as Dennis P. Dunn, 57, of 70 Pinehaven.

Popularity Of Japanese Maple Grows

The Japanese Maple, Acer palmatum dissectum, is The Post Plant of the Week. Sometimes referred to as the "Spider-Leaf" or "Laceleaf" maple, this little tree has finely dissected fern-like leaves.

For some years these trees were overlooked but when the boys returned from Japan they brought with them both actual and mental pictures of these lovely trees and the Japanese maples have enjoyed a great upsurge of popularity. Additional credit for this can probably be given to the practices of modern gardening, which puts so much emphasis on smaller plants, and the spotlight on decorative plant material.

The dainty Japanese maples fit the modern small garden perfectly. They are available at local nurseries in a variety of sizes and leaf patterns. Most popular in the maple family are the dwarfs. The standard dwarf maple has light green leaves, which often surprise us in California by providing vivid fall color. Some growers advocate the withholding of water in early fall to encourage this autumn coloring but this practice is dangerous to the health of the tree and can be fatal when overdone.

All of the Japanese maples are slow growing. Some will reach a height of 20 feet but the dwarfs stay pretty well under 10 feet. Our three plants of Acer palmatum dissectum, all close to 12 years old, are barely three feet high. However, they are close to five feet in diameter. They are growing in the partial shade of two huge oaks that protect them from the sun during the hottest part of the day.

The Japanese maples are deciduous. They are normally many stemmed with an airy, delicate appearance. The small leaves are deeply cut and sawtoothed with the dissectum varieties so finely cut they have gained popular names descriptive of their leaf patterns. Varieties such as astropurpureum have reddish bronze leaves throughout the summer.

Most all of the Japanese maples enjoy filtered sunlight and some protection from drying winds. They like a soil that is rich in leaf mold and very well drained. If they are to be kept as small dwarfs the soil should not be enriched with plant nutrients or balanced fertilizers. An application of bone meal once a year will take care of their needs.

These small Japanese maples have a wide variety of uses in the modern garden. They are lovely used in the shady sections of a perennial border or rock garden. They are lovely when used with camellias and azaleas where their bright leaf color provide contrast during the summer months. In Japan we saw them used very frequently as the featured plant in small dooryard gardens and as a background for ferns.

They are invaluable as pot plants and for bonsai. Grown as a Western pot plant and allowed to develop naturally they add a dainty touch to entrance ways and patios. Grown as bonsai in the traditional Japanese manner with their branch structure pruned to a series of planed surfaces, the Japanese maple adds faces, the Japanese maple adds an exotic and elegant touch.

Woman Hurts Back in Fall

FOR PLANTING

Fall Is Like a Second Spring

By IVA NEWMAN

At a time when gardeners in the greater portion of the United States are coiling up their hoses and giving serious thought to the new plastic covers for winter protection of roses, Peninsula gardeners are entering one of the busiest seasons of the year. For fall is like a second spring in this part of the Golden state when anything or everything can be planted.

Fall plantng is one of the secret keys to quick growth. The soil is still warm from summer's baking, so newly planted shrubs, trees and perennials are quick to send out new roots. Planted now, they become established before winter weather slows them down or cuts them short and are therefore ready to develop at maximum speed when winter once again turns to spring.

Nurserymen suggest that almost everything in the nursery can be planted in the fall. The possible exceptions are citrus and other evergreen fruits, which are best planted in spring. Even these may be planted here on the Peninsula if you have a protected place or if you are willing to erect some type of covering in case of a heavier than usual frost.

Top priority for planting in early fall are new lawns. These are best planted between mid-September and late October. Fall planted lawns are months ahead of spring-planted lawns for the reason outlined above. They set their new roots now and are ready to develop good top growth rapidly when early spring arrives.

Still Time for Bedding Plants

Bedding plants can still be set out for winter and early spring bloom. Calendulas, pansies, violas, stocks, cineraria (if you have a protected spot where frost won't touch them), snapdragons and fairy primroses are all available in nursery flats. Their season of bloom will depend entirely upon the nature of our fall. If warm weather carries into November, they will bloom by Christmas. If winter comes early, you'll have to wait until spring for their big peak of bloom. An August planting would have eliminated the chance you may have to take wth the weather, but don't hesitate to plant them now.

Perennials of all manner, both the bedding varieties and those shrubbier specimens which come in gallon cans, may be planted in the fall. In fact, professional gardeners have found that fall is far the best time to plant them. Check with your favorite nursery about the list of perennials he offers, you may be sure he will have the top favorites. Consider anything and everything in the perennial line, for the field is full of surprises. Rudbeckia laciniata gave us a surprise at last Monday night's California Horticultural society meeting. The blooms were a part of the Stebbing Arboretum display. We haven't seen this perennial in flower for so long that we had forgotten its good keeping quality as a cut flower and the long sturdy stems that make it so desirable for Japanese traditional arrangements. We are now on the hunt for plants of this variety and for the double-flowered one named "Golden Glow."

Fall Ideal for Trees

Fall is an ideal time to plant trees, both the evergreen varieties and the deciduous forms which are soon to lose their leaves. Here again, the few weeks of fall will help trees to get well established and ready for the big spring push. Ths can mean added feet of growth the first year. (As long as we are talking about planting trees now, you might as well get some mileage right away by planting trees which color up in fall. Maples, the Ginkgo, Northern Red Oak and Liquidamber are four whch seem able to put on a good showing of the traditional hues of autumn in this area.)

Shrubs of every description may be planted now, also. Even roses, which are nearing their season's end, may be set out from containers for some late color. Some of the newer roses such as "Garden Party," continue to produce good bloom until Christmas. Fuchsias are at the peak of their bloom, or should be, and may be planted for still a few more weeks of show before shorter days and cooler nights cut them short.

Hedge plants do a surprisingly better job of getting established and growing when planted in the fall instead of spring. Privet, boxwood, pittosporum, English laurel, Natal plum, bush germander, you name your favorite in the hedge line of plants and now is the time to plant it.

Plant Ground Covers Now

Ground covers, planted in the fall will amaze you by the rapidity with which they take hold. Ivy, which seems to take forever to start growing and trachelospermum jasminoides (Star Jasmine) cut the waiting period considerably when planted in the fall. Cotoneaster dammeri (flattest of the cotoneasters), prostrate rosemary, the vincas and ceanothus all do a faster job of covering when started in fall. If banks are steep or if the soil is very loose prevent washing during a heavy rain by mulching with straw held in place by strips of chicken wire held in place by bent wire hairpns. (We make these harpins from wire coat hangers.)

And then there are bulbs, all the spring-blooming favorites, which should be planted between now and the middle of December. The so-called "Cape bulbs" from South Africa should go in this month; freesias, ixias, sparaxis, and baby glads. These are only dormant a short time and early planting is a must. The major bulbs of spring, tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and the Dutch iris need planting soon after they show up in the nurseries, which may be anytime from now on. Tulips can be the last to be planted, unless you are growing them in pots for early bloom, as they want a cool soil that will let them develop a good root system before warmth forces out the flower.

Square Sets Phone Contest

Daly City teen-agers will have a chance to win their own private color telephone for an entire year in St. Francis Square shopping center's "Win-a-Fone" contest, currently under way.

The contest, which runs from September 25 to September 28, will be open to teen-agers between the ages of 13 and 19 years of age.

Entrants in the contest are not required to purchase anything or to fill out a questionnaire. Contestants need only to fill out coupon advertisements appearing in The Post and deposit them with the store whose name appears on the coupon. Additional coupons are available in St. Francis Square stores.

First prize for the lucky winning teen-ager is a private, color telephone for one year. Second prize is a $10 merchandise order and third through fifth winners will each receive a $5 merchandise order.

A public drawing will be held in front of Nora's House of Beauty in the center on Saturday, October 5. Winners do not have to be present at the drawing.

As an added attraction at the center, a colorful exhibit of the Pacific Telephone company's traveling Science Trailer will be featured in the parking area Saturday, from 10:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Conducting tours through the unique, air-conditioned trailer will be two employees of the telephone company, Diana Miller and Susan Murphy. They will explain the evolution of communicating by voice, starting with replicas of sets used by Alexander Graham Bell; through dial telephones and direct distance dialing, and Telstar, the communications satellite.

Other exhibits in the 40-foot trailer take the visitor into the future. One shows push-button telephones, and the revolutionary phonovision, which will permit visitors to actually see themselves on a miniature TV screen which is part of this fascinating new telephone.

There is also a demonstration of the amazing optical maser, an experimental method of carrying all kinds of communication by means of light beam. Another exhibit deals with the early warning defense network across the Arctic.

Each exhibit is constructed to give viewers an idea of how the equipment works. Science trailer hostesses will make calls or transmit other sounds over all the equipment, including the Telstar model and the maser.

Coastside Gun Battle Saturday

Police Arrest Two Beach Burglars

Two Salinas men were arrested Saturday following a gun battle with police at New Year's beach in which one of them was shot and two innocent bystanders were hit by flying glass.

Chief E. A. Ravnetos of the sheriff's reserve force said he and Reserve Deputy Gerald Galvin were "stalked out" at the beach hoping to catch the culprits who have been breaking into cars there. At 1:50 p.m. a sports car drove up, parked beside another auto and two men got out. They pried open a window in the other car, took articles of clothing from the seat and drove away.

As the sports car sped up the road, Raventos reported, he stepped out of his hiding place and, brandishing his shotgun, ordered the car to stop. It speeded up. As it passed him, Raventos said he fired two warning shots and when the car did not stop fired twice more, once under the car, once into it.

The car kept going, however, and, as it went onto Cabrillo highway, a pistol shot came from the car. Raventos said he assumed they were returning his fire. The bullet, however, crashed through the rear window of another car and sprayed two of its four occupants with glass.

The sports car got away, but not before a private citizen obtained its license number.

Roadblocks were set up and the car was stopped an hour later in Watsonville by Santa Cruz county sheriff's deputies. Its occupants, Gary L. Lockhart, 23, and David J. Perez, 25, were returned to county jail in Redwood City and booked on charges of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon. Lockhart was also booked en route to the state prison parole office and Perez for possession of a dangerous drug.

Deputies said Lockhart had two gunshot wounds in the right shoulder and one in the left shoulder.

Injured when the pistol bullet went through the window of their car were William Burd, 18-year-old Treasure Island sailor, and Laura Lenzi, 17, of Woodacre. Burd sustained facial cuts and Miss Lenzi had glass particles in her eye. Doctors said she would be all right, however.

Must Repay County for Education

Mrs. Margaret Baumgartner, director of nursing at the county sanatorium who resigned to take a teaching position at Fresno State college, has been ordered to repay the county $1257.58 it spent on her education.

Mrs. Baumgartner, who had been with the county service since 1951, was granted an eight-weeks leave of absence with pay last year to obtain her master's degree at University of California. Before the leave was granted, according to Richard Kennedy, acting county personnel director, Mrs. Baumgartner signed a contract guaranteeing to work for the county at least two more years, or repay the amount of her salary during her absence on leave.

When she was offered and accepted a professorship in nursing at Fresno, she asked the county board of supervisors to excuse her from the contract, or to cut her obligation in half because she had fulfilled one-half of her two-year guarantee. The civil service commission and the board of supervisors agreed, however, that no exceptions should be made and Mrs. Baumgartner was ordered to reimburse the county.

SP Kicks Off Crusade Push

Southern Pacific's Coast division held a kickoff rally and luncheon for United Crusade campaign leaders in that organization Wednesday at the Redwood City Elks club.

The Coast division will start its campaign among company personnel on Wednesday. The gathering of campaign leaders was called to plan and spark an intensive effort for the United Crusade this year.

Among the campaign leaders from the whole division attending were John L. Harrison, campaign chairman for San Francisco; George Meyer, chairman for the division's San Jose section; and Donald K. Miller, chairman at the general offices of Southern Pacific.

The principal speaker was R. A. Miller, superintendent of the Coast division.

TWO TICKETS TO THE BIG GAME

CALIFORNIA-STANFORD NOV. 23

For the Week's Best Entry

Send in your entry in the FOOTBALL CONTEST

sponsored by The Post and The Times

Entries available every Wednesday in the Post.

RULES AND INSTRUCTIONS

1. Select the winner of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Ties" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, credit will only be given to contestants who predict the tie.

2. Write the total net yards (rushing and passing) that you think the S. F. 49ers will make in Sunday's game in the box provided. (This estimate will only be used in case of ties between two contestants.)

3. Clip and mail the entry blank to:
FOOTBALL CONTEST
San Mateo Times
145 Second Avenue
San Mateo, Calif.
or to
FOOTBALL CONTEST
The Post
30 Park Plaza Drive
Daly City, Calif.

4. Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to The Times prior to midnight Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach The Times.

5. To receive the cash prize the winner must pick all 15 games correctly. If the entry does not pick all games right, then the winner will receive 2 tickets to the Big Game, California vs. Stanford on Nov. 23. The previous week's contest cash prize will be added to the next week's contest if it is not distributed to a winner. This cash prize will be given to the winner of the final week's contest for games to be played Nov. 16-17 if it has not been distributed before. The final week's winner will not need to guess all 15 games to win the cash prize. In case ties cannot be broken between contestants by means of the tie-breaker, the prize will be divided equally. (This includes ties between contestants who pick 15 winners.

6. A bonus of $50 will be given to each prize winner (not Big Game ticket winners) who is a home-delivered subscriber to The San Mateo Times or indicates immediate delivery of The Times is wanted. To qualify for this bonus, either of the boxes at the bottom of the entry blank must be checked. In the event, two or more subscribers divide the contest cash prize, the bonus prize will be divided in the same manner.

7. A contestant may submit as many entries as desired on the official entry blank but only one exact-sized facsimile of the official entry blank. Submission of more than one facsimile in any one week will render all facsimiles submitted by that contestant void.

8. Entries may be attached to a post card, mailed in an envelope or delivered by hand to the office of The Times.

9. Anyone may enter the contest except employees of The Times or immediate members of their family.

10. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decisions. All entries become the property of The Times. No answers may be returned. The Times reserves the right to correct any typographical errors in the entry blank which affect the outcome of the contest. Answers to the contest or winners' names will NOT be given out over the phone. Winners will be notified by The Times.
